Mission opens arms to hurricane victims

Annual 9-11 fund-raiser proceeds to be shared with Hurricane Katrina victims

By Brenda Balin

Special to Lakeland Newspapers

Although usually the Open Arms Mission in Antioch focuses on serving the needs of the immediate Antioch and Lake Villa township communities, according to Open Arms Director Scott Keenan, the community is about to increase, temporarily, by about 700 people in need.

The new residents are people displaced by Hurricane Katrina. They will be sheltered at the Salvation Army's Wonderland Camp, in Camp Lake, Wis.

To help with the Salvation Army effort to house and feed these victims of the storm, Keenan said a portion of the Open Arms Mission's annual fund-raiser will be designated for the Wonderland Camp visitors.

Open Arms will hold its annual fund-raising event on Sunday, Sept. 11, at the American Aid Society for German Descendants, located on Grand Avenue (Route 132), a half-mile west of Route 83.

"This is the only fund raising we do all year. Our goal is to raise $30,000 this year," Keenan said. "We need $20,000 to run the Mother Teresa Home (a transitional home for women and children) for one year."

Keenan said that would allow the mission to cover the expanding demands on its food pantry, as well as help provide food for the displaced people at the camp.

The benefit event, taking place from 1 to 5 p.m., is family-friendly. Admission is $10 for each person over 12. All those under 12 are admitted free. Admission covers free hotdogs, popcorn and cotton candy. Children will also have free use of a "Monster Truck Giant Moonwalk" and a playground. From 2 to 2:30 p.m. the crowd will be entertained by "Steve's Zany Magic Show."

A small additional donation will be requested for airbrushed temporary "tattoos."

For the small price of a buck a ball, attendees can try to dunk a pastor or the mayor of Lindenhurst.

The line-up of "dunkees" is as follows:

At 1:15 p.m., Pastor Dave Groleau, Cross View Church; 1:45 p.m. Pastor Jeff Brussaly, Christian Live Fellowship Church; 2:15 p.m., Pastor Christopher Druce Jones, Lake Villa United Methodist Church; 2:45 p.m., Pastor Mark Albrecht, Northbridge Church and at 3:15 p.m., Pastor Scott Keenan, Community Church of the Holy Spirit.

At 3:30 p.m., Sox fans can vent for the sake of a good cause, when the ultimate Cubs fan, Lindenhurst Mayor Jim Betustak, takes his turn on the wet seat.

The family day concludes at 5

Clubs collect truckloads for relief efforts

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Lions Club and the Moose Club have joined forces as well as the village of Antioch, and began the first collection of goods to go down to the hurricane area and help some of those in need.

"We have found two drivers who will take the donations to the troubled area," said Bob McCarty, a member of Lion's Club as well as a village trustee.

John Brander, a member of the Board of Officers for the Antioch Moose, said members jumped to action to help a community a little further away than usual.

"We came to the plate when we learned of the need out there,"

Brander said. "Our hearts goes out to those people."

The two clubs arranged for a truck to be available for donations in front of the Antioch band shell. It was full by 2 p.m. Sunday, McCarty said. They put another truck in front of Wal-Mart and the store announced the need every hour during the day, McCarty said. When all was said and done the clubs collected a total of three truckloads of needed items to take to a town Louisiana town that was recommended by Lee Shannon who had worked with FEMA.

The heavy-laden trucks left Monday at 1 p.m., McCarty said. In addition to items, many people donated money that could be used for fuel to get there and back. They estimate the trip will cost $1,600 in gas. Fortunately $3,000 had been raised.

As of Tuesday, they were making progress, but sometimes had to back track for gas since none was available in some areas. The trucks carried 150 gallons of fuel to be used as a last resort.

The members of the Moose and Lions Clubs don't consider their job finished.

The next event is to raise funds and should prove to be a lot fun for those who contribute. The second fund-raising event will also be at the band shell, but the use will be more traditional.

Local bands are performing relief concert. Tickets cost $5. Children 12 and younger can get in for free.

"We have a bunch of local bands that will begin to play at 4 p.m.,"

Rescue Squad wants to deliver long distance aid

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

There are three families that used to live in Antioch and have moved to the New Orleans area. They have lost housing, jobs and personal effects, and are probably known to many residents. They are asking for nothing, but Rescue Squad Chief Wayne Sobczak has offered to collect funds for these three families, or any other specific family known to an Antioch resident.

By making a check out to the Rescue Squad, those specific donations will be eligible for a tax deduction. Sobczak said by donating this way, those who give the money will know all of their donation is going directly to those who need, and to the specific individuals who need it.

"We'll funnel the money directly to the individuals and we can provide a tax-write-off," Sobczak said. Those who know others to whom they wish help, the Rescue Squad will need to know how to get the money to those individuals.

Send your donations to Antioch Rescue Squad, P.O. Box 150, Antioch, IL 60002. Mark your check as a hurricane donation and to whom it should be directed. If no one else is designated, it will go the one of the three former Antioch families.

THE GEOCARIS LAW FIRM

Attorneys and Counselors at Law

The Geocar Law Firm is a family-operated general law practice. James Geocar, Jr., is a trial attorney. Following law school in 1991, he joined the Cook County State's Attorney's Office where he initially served in the Appellate Division, writing and arguing criminal appeals before the Illinois Appellate Court. After that he was transferred to the Criminal Trial Bureau where as a criminal prosecutor, he gained valuable jury trial experience. He then was in the private practice of law in Arlington Heights for several years, practicing in the areas of criminal defense, personal injury, real estate, probate, family law and immigration. Following this, he served as a Federal Prosecutor for the U.S. Virgin Islands Territory where he performed over twenty jury trials at the federal level. After returning to the states in 2001, he joined with his father in the present practice.

James Geocar, Sr. is a former Marine Corps Attorney. Following this he served in the private practice of law in the 1960's before being appointed as a Magistrate in 1970. Subsequently, he was appointed as an Associate Judge in Cook County and later elected as a full Circuit Court Judge. He became Presiding Judge of the Third Municipal District in 1976, a position he held until his retirement in 1996. He was responsible for creating and implementing the Traffic Diversion Program, giving the motorist the option of signing up for "Traffic School" as opposed to attending court. He also supervised the transition of the Third District to the central court facility located in Rolling Meadows in 1989. He currently serves as the Village Prosecutor for the Village of Rolling Meadows and lives there along with his wife, Naomi.

The firm maintains offices in Palatine and Fox Lake and they regularly practice in Lake County, throughout all of Cook County, in addition to McHenry, Kane, DuPage, Will and Kendall counties. They practice in the areas of criminal and traffic defense, personal injury, family law, immigration, real estate and business services. The basic integrity of this firm has been in existence since 1986 with different personnel over the years. The firm prides itself on achieving the best possible result for their clients.

Grant High gala helps students; gives scholarships

Planning for the Grant Community High School "Partnership for Academic Excellence" annual gala is now underway.

The Eleventh Annual GCHS PAE dinner dance will be Nov. 5 at Maravella's Restaurant on Route 59 in Fox Lake.

The gala combines a live auction, a silent auction, dinner and dance, and is an evening dedicated to supporting the partnership.

Proceeds from this event will assist financially needy students, enhance classroom technology and provide scholarships for academically talented students.

Professional auctioneer Bill Obenauf of Obenauf Auction Services, will be auctioneering the live items. More than 100 items are included in the silent auction lists.

Some of the auction items already donated include a Door County Get Away with golf, dinner and a Vineyard Tour, a log cabin home that sleeps 12 in Christmas Mountain, Wis., sports tickets, a getaway to Lauderdale Lake, at Elkhart Lake, Wis. and more.

For more information, invitations, or to donate a silent or live auction item, call Barb Purdue at 815-344-5756 or Trudy Hellios at 847-587-2561, ext. 294.

Mosquitoes are a looming threat

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

Officials are becoming concerned about adult Culex mosquitoes that carry the West Nile virus, and would like some input from residents about the next step.

Lake Villa Township Supervisor Dan Venturi is considering spraying for mosquitoes, something that has not been done for at least 20 years.

The Lake County Health Department has recommended it, but there are always some concerns about side effects, although chemicals that are used have improved over the decades.

A township meeting will be on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the township center. Residents will be asked for their input.

The Village of Lake Villa is considering a similar action and will discuss the matter at Wednesday's village board meeting that begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Lake Villa Village Hall.

Lindenhurst is also considering whether to take action and a discussion will be encouraged at their Monday village board meeting at 7 p.m. in the Lindenhurst Village Hall.

Venturi, Mayor Loffredo and Mayor Bestustak have met and would like their areas to take the same action together, since hit and miss spraying would be much less effective. Venturi plans to be at all three meetings.

Man drowns in Lindenhurst pond

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

A Streamwood man died in a pond north of Gelden and Crosswind lanes in Lindenhurst on Friday night. Lake County Coroner Dr. Richard Keller said Armond Aguilar, 25, drowned after he left a boat where he was fishing with others and decided to swim to shore.

Divers found Aguilar at 10:58 p.m., about two hours after he was reported missing. He was wearing heavy construction boots and was tangled in the mucky pond-bottom. He was found 30 feet from shore, Keller said.

The developer of the area provided a good map of the pond that proved to be very helpful, Keller said.

Toxicology reports have not been received yet, but a preliminary test indicated there was some alcohol in his system.

Junior Woman's Club and Woman's Club seek members

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

Both clubs serve a similar purpose and the biggest difference is the time of their meetings. The Woman's Club meets during the day and the Junior Woman's Club has evening meetings.

Due to the timing of the meetings younger workingwomen attend the Junior's Club, which was founded by Linda Pederson 12 years ago so.

The members of the Woman's Club have been available to meet during the day for many years. Both groups are part of the Illinois and national organizations. Both groups are philanthropic.

The group recently helped serve at the firefighter's pancake breakfast and at the Lion's Club barbecue.

The Junior Woman's Club invites interested potential members for an evening of fun, information and socializing at 7 p.m. Sept. 20. The club will meet in a member's home. For more information and to let members know you are coming, call Dawn at 847-838-5436.

The Woman's Club will have a tea this month to recognize all of the members who have joined throughout the year.

New members may join at any time. More information is available by calling 847-395-4210.

Help is arranged for displaced Louisianans

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

Former residents of town outside of New Orleans have lost homes, jobs and just about everything else. Their town was near the levee that burst, and they were expected to arrive on Wednesday, according to Bob McCarty of the Lions Club.

The Salvation Army and a number of local organizations from Antioch have offered other types of relief at Camp Lake in Kenosha County.

In a matter of days, the Salvation Army prepared to supply food and bedding to those who were evacuated from a town just outside of New Orleans. The need for clothes has been met and the truck in front of the Open Arms Mission, 1548 S. Main St. on Route 83 will no longer accept clothing items.

Local organizations involved in this effort include The Lions Club, the Moose Lodge, The Rotary Club and the Open Arms Mission.

According to Pastor Scott Keenan of the Open Arms Mission the biggest need right now is for toiletries, women's personal hygiene items and car seats. Toiletries include soap, shampoo, combs, brushes, toothpaste, toothbrushes and deodorant.

The truck will be manned to accept donations and when it is full, the goods will be taken to the camp which is just across the state line. It will then return to begin accepting more donations.

An Antioch couple rushes to include their donations before the truck in front of the Open Arms Missions closes for the night. The biggest current need is for toiletries.

Financial donations are also needed to obtain specific items for some individuals with special needs.

Since the people have nothing to return to, the length of their stay is not known.

Chamber host fall arts and craft sale

Goods sold this weekend

By Ginny Skweres
Staff Reporter

The Chamber's arts and crafts show is so popular that Antioch Chamber of Commerce President Barbara Porch had to turn away vendors since all 140 spaces were allotted to others. This is the 12th year for the event, and it will be on Skidmore Drive and Orchard Avenue.

The hours on Saturday will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Vendors are coming from all over the country, Porch said, and there is a broad range in mediums and prices. Some of the arts and crafts include jewelry, dog treat, pet paraphernalia, holiday items, floral arrangements, watercolor paintings, photography art and metal works.

"The ideas are so innovative that we always have been products popping up," Porch said.

There is no admission charge and everyone is welcome to attend, she said.

There will be a Chamber of Commerce booth for information or to drop off money for hurricane relief.

Chamber members are also collecting funds at various retail locations, all through the month of September. Braeside Plastics provided the plastic containers and Miller Signs provided signage.

So far collections have been great. Porch said that within 24 hours the Baskin Robbins/Dunkin' Donuts collected $125. In addition to that, the store will donate $1 for every dozen donuts purchased and every cake.

The Police Explorers will help with overnight security.

Land purchased for new Aquatic Center

The Antioch Village Board unanimously approved the purchase of land for the development of the village's new aquatic center.

The 12 acres, commonly known as the Bittner Farm, 22821 North Ave., was purchased for $425,000. The land is adjacent to land already owned by Antioch and will need to be annexed.

No plans or timetable were discussed at the meeting. - By Ginny Skweres

OUR TOWN

Antioch opens its heart to those in need

The response to an emergency by individuals and groups in Antioch is nothing short of amazing. People have donated money and items to the victims of Hurricane Katrina, and have been willing to help at the drop of a hat. I have been able to tell some of the stories on these pages, but there are many others, and that includes the gallant efforts of school students.

At the Antioch Upper Grade School, both students and teachers are challenging one another to fundraising efforts in 'Cares for Katrina.' All of the money raised will be donated to the American Red Cross.

Just to make things interesting, if the kids raise $1,000, the AUGS principal and assistant principals will 'serenade the the students' with a very special song.

There are also a number of other challenges going on within the school.

"We want to get the students involved, but the focus is on giving because it's right," Judy Hoats of AUGS said.

The Wyld Creek store in Fox Lake, and NAWGS, with the support of Aquascape, are changing their focus of donations to the Relief effort in the south. They are hoping to raise $2,000.

One NAWGS member from north New Orleans is being given shelter by an NAWGS member in Georgia for a couple of months until it is safe to return to the city. He lost everything.

For car buffs, there is a car show this Sunday at the first CarJamz Mobile Audio and Accessories in the corner of Routes 45 and 173. In addition to a car show, there will be a sounds off for sound quality and sound pressure, a neon glow-off contest at night and raffles throughout the day.

Trophies will be given out in the categories of sound quality, sound pressure, best truck, best car and best customization.

More information is available by calling CarJamz at 847-838-6640.

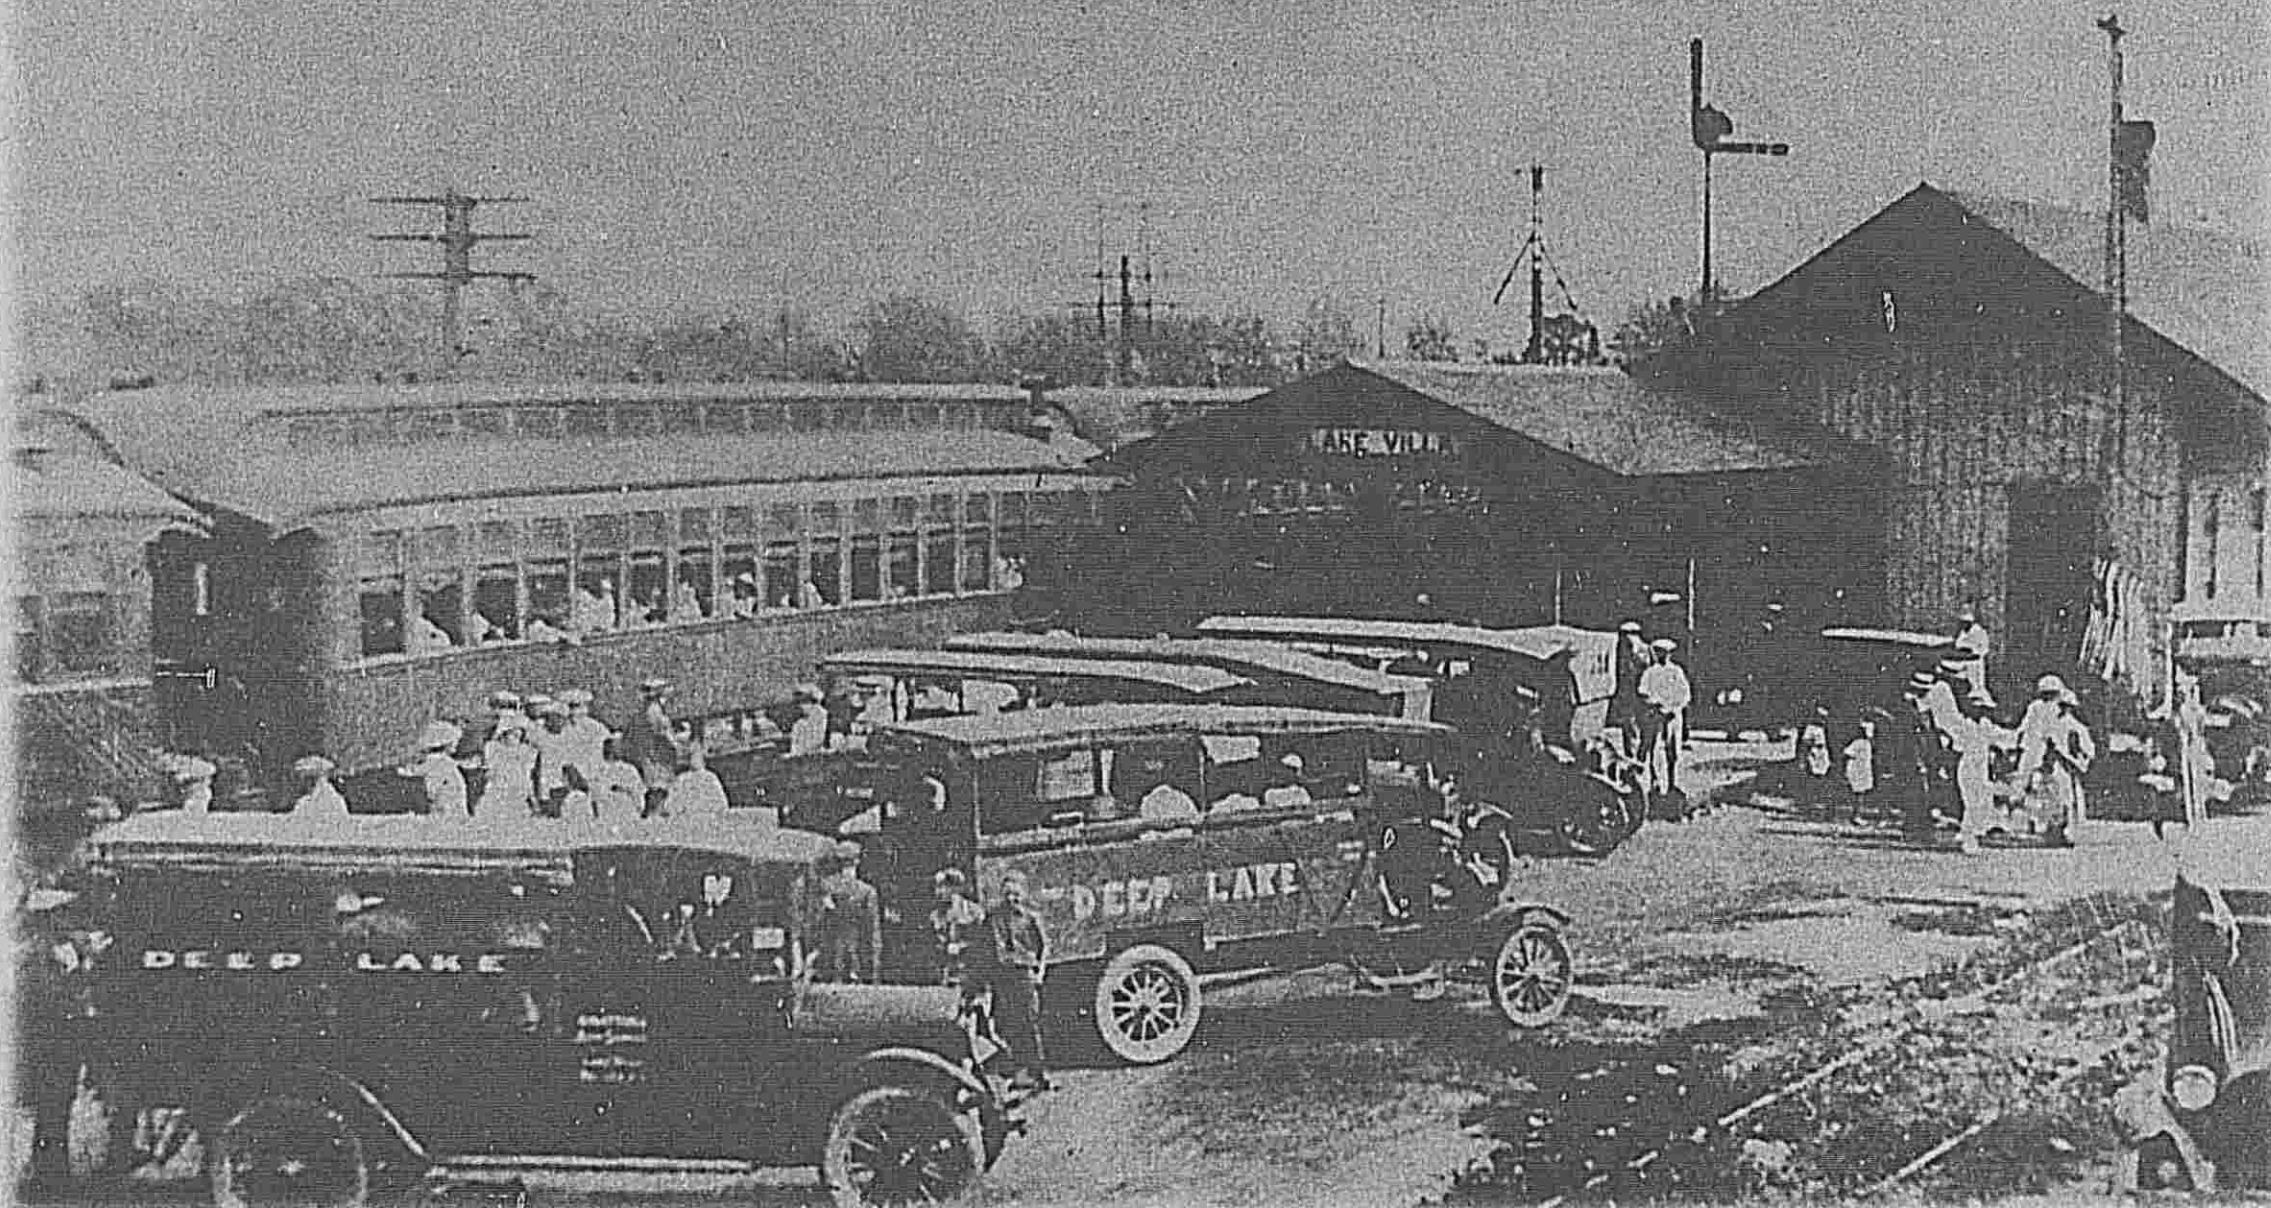

Eleven members of Antioch Cub Scout Pack 191 attended a weeklong Day Camp at Camp Oakarro in Wadsworth last month. The camp was based on medieval times with suitable craft and activities.

Participants from Pack 191 were Peter Blameuser, Logan Boyce, Jake DeGrave, Alex Hanson, Trent Kalstrup, Ted Martinek, Jordan Mercure, John Mitchell, Joey Moote, Brandon Swanson and Daniel Zirkelbach.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Ginny Skweres at 847-223-8161, ext. 154 or e-mail, ginny@lakelandmedia.com

The Community Savings Account is available only if you have a checking account that is active and that was opened at one of Libertyville Bank & Trust Company's facilities: Libertyville Bank & Trust, Gurnee Community Bank, Lake Villa Community Bank, Wauconda Community Bank or Mundelein Community Bank. We consider your checking account to be active if, during the most recent three consecutive months, you have had at least one customer-initiated debit or credit posted to your checking account. For the checking account, with the exception of the Founders checking account, a monthly $15.00 non-activity fee may be imposed if no customer-initiated activity is posted for three consecutive months. 1. APYs are accurate as of 8/23/05. The rates may change after the account is opened. However, through 12/31/05, the interest rate will never be less than 3.45% (3.50% APY) for balances $50,000 & above, 3.06% (3.10% APY) for balances $25,000 to $49,999.99, 2.57% (2.60% APY) for balances $5,000 to $24,999.99 and .60% (.60% APY) for balances $0 to $4,999.99. After 12/31/05, there is no rate floor, and interest rates may drop below the rates described in the previous sentence. A minimum balance fee of $15.00 will be imposed every month if the average daily balance for the month falls below $5,000.00. Fees could reduce earnings on the account. The annual percentage yield (APY) is calculated on simple interest rates with interest compounded and paid monthly and assumes interest remains on deposit for one year. This offer may change or be withdrawn at any time.

OPEN ARMS

p.m. with a 9-11 memorial service. U.S. Rep. Melissa Bean (D-Barrington) is expected to attend.

The party is also the final destination for a fund-raising 94-mile motorcycle ride that begins at KC's Cabin, on Route 173 and Wilmot Road, at 11:30 a.m. the same day. The cost of the run, with the proceeds going to the Open Arms fund-raiser, is $25 per rider, and includes dinner at the end of the run, after the family day event.

The same morning, Lake Villa Township will be holding its annual 5K Run, to benefit the Lake Villa Food Pantry. This year it will also be the final day for accepting other donations. The township, in conjunction with Lake County Township Officials and United Way of Lake County will be collecting items to help Hurricane Katrina victims. The collected items will be delivered to the Houston Food Bank where many of the victims have been relocated.

The collected items will be delivered via transportation donated by Boyer-Rosene Bekins Moving Company of Bensenville. The truck will leave for Houston on Monday, Sept. 12.

"If ever anyone was thinking of contributing to Open Arms Mission, this is the time to look into your heart," Keenan said. "Our numbers are going up, especially among the elderly."

Keenan said that two weeks ago the mission food pantry served over 170 people. Last week, 154 were served. This is a 10 percent increase over average service in the past year.

So far, the pantry is keeping up with the growing need, allowing it to keep its promise that those served at the end of the pantry's week, 6:30 p.m. Thursdays, will find the selection of canned food, paper goods, chicken, vegetables and fresh breads and milk to be equal to that offered to those who arrive when the pantry opens at 4:30 p.m. on Tuesdays.

"We have a line waiting to get in on Tuesdays," Keenan said.

The pantry, located on Route 83, next to the A-Z Rental store, is open 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday. For more information, call 847-395-0309.

Waukegan's annual air show becoming a major draw

By Rob Backus

A squad of P-51 Mustangs fly in close formation, and everything looks calm — at least right up until the moment the group of planes banks suddenly as if the fires of hell are hot on their tails.

If you witnessed this scene 60 years ago, it was likely followed by the sound of numerous explosions as the infamous "tank busters" destroyed their targets. But now the only sounds heard above the thundering hum of the single-prop engines are the cheers of thousands of fans packed into Waukegan Regional Airport for the city's annual air show.

The event, set for Saturday, Sept. 10, has become a draw for thousands of people across Lake County in its three previous years. And Jim Stanczak, the event's founder, expects more of the same this Saturday.

"The word's been getting out that we have a lot of stuff to offer," said Stanczak, manager of Waukegan Regional Airport. "We're trying to make it bigger and better each year."

Stanczak said he expects as many as 12,000 to 15,000 people to attend this year's show, up from a little more than 10,000 last year and 5,000 to 7,000 in 2002, the event's first year.

The show will kick off at 10 a.m. with a group of parachutists holding an American flag during the singing of the national anthem. A number of events for the whole family, including free Young Eagles rides for kids ages 8 to 17, the "Brass Ambassadors" of the U.S. Navy Band, static displays of aircraft, model airplane displays, glider demonstrations and live entertainment.

The Waukegan Fire Airport safety truck will also be on display; and the Waukegan Fire Department also plans to simulate a house fire to show families the proper way to evacuate a burning home. Stanczak said the U.S. Coast Guard might also perform a rescue demonstration with its helicopter.

"We put the charter aircraft (corporate jets) out there and people line up for that all day," Stanczak said. "And we have tons of concessions, so people are coming and going all day."

Starting at 2 p.m., however, there doesn't figure to be an empty seat in the house, as the aerial displays will close out the show in style. Aircraft scheduled to appear include, the T-28 "Trojan Horsemen" flight team; a UH-60 Blackhawk helicopter; the B-25 bomber "Barbie III"; the aforementioned P-51 Mustangs; an F-86 Sabre jet; L-39 Albatrosses, which are used as Russian jet trainers; and F-4U Corsairs.

"They all put on a nice aerial display," Stanczak said. "And we're also trying to get more participation by getting people to bring in some of their own aircraft."

The event, which Stanczak started after coming to the area

four years ago, serves a two-fold purpose, Stanczak said.

"We felt the community needed it because it gets kids interested in flying," he said. "It also shows the importance of the airport to the community. A lot of corporations operate out of here, and that generates a lot of funds for the area."

As far as the funds for the air show go, it was and will remain a free event with free parking, Stanczak said the money to run the air show is raised through corporate and private donations.

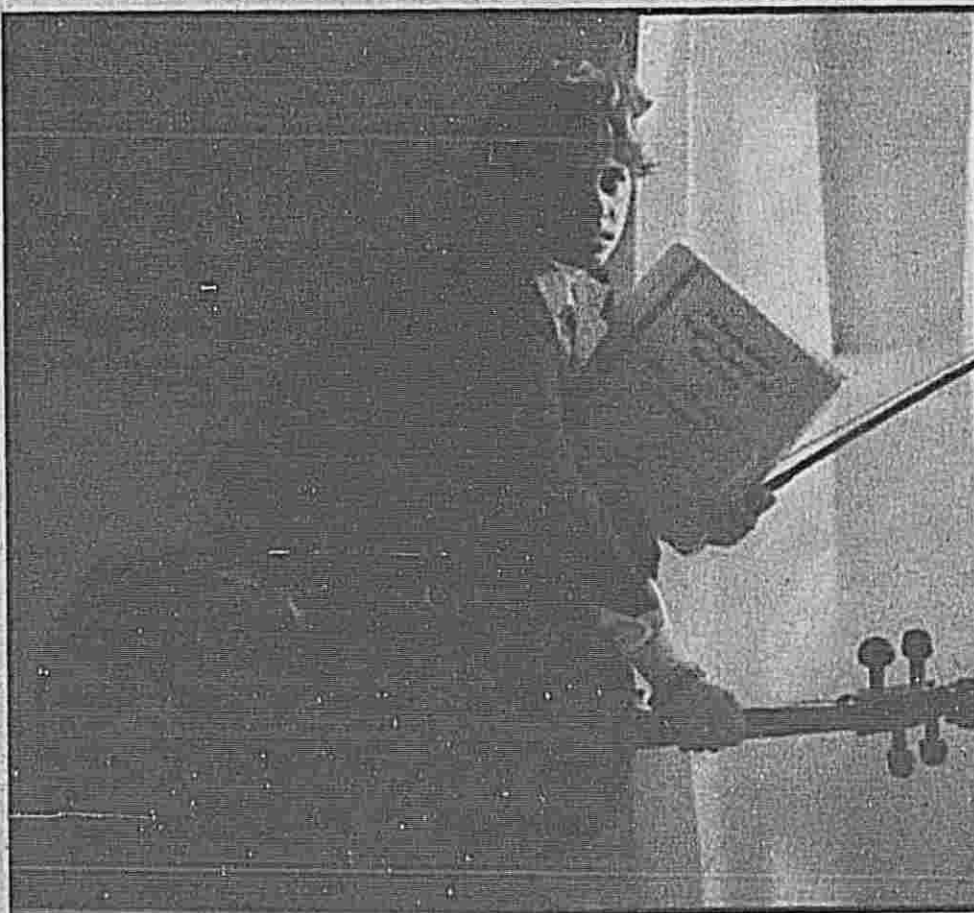

Waukegan Regional Airport is located at 3580 N. McAree Road in Waukegan. For more information on the event, visit www.waukeganairshow.com or call 847-244-0055.

Frayn's stimulating 'Copenhagen' explores science, human drama

By Tom Witom

No one knows what exactly went on during a secret September 1941 meeting in Nazi-occupied Denmark between German physicist Werner Heisenberg and his Danish mentor, Niels Bohr. But it hasn't stopped speculation about this mystery of modern scientific history.

"Copenhagen," a riveting, emotion-packed three-person drama by Michael Frayn, explores the subject at length. It's now making a premiere by a resident Chicago company, TimeLine Theatre, under the superb direction of Louis Contey.

The play opens and closes with the key question Bohr asks of Heisenberg: "But why did he come?" The question is dramatized in a series of three repeated "drafts" in which Frayn attempts to explicate each character's wartime choices.

Among the imagined topics discussed between the two former colleagues are their friendship – almost a father and son relationship – before and during the war; the process of developing an atomic bomb; and the ultimate moral responsibility of scientific discovery.

The two strong-willed physicists, Terry Hamilton (as Bohr) and PJ Powers (as Heisenberg), bring verisimilitude to the production as they engage in heated debate with one another. Pioneering work by Bohr, a half-Jewish Dane, led the way for scientists to understand the way electrons move about inside atoms. The efforts of Bohr and Heisenberg, his one-time student, led to the discovery of nuclear fission.

In the play, their fiery debates about calculations for creating nuclear power (and weapons) at times take on a lecture format as they probe the highly technical world of quantum physics.

A third character, Bohr's wife and knowledgeable personal assistant Margrethe (the remarkable Isabel Liss), assures that Bohr adheres to his principle of speaking in plain, understandable language.

Ultimately, what "Copenhagen" comes down to is a simple truth.

It examines the "gray areas" in the scientific hypotheses relating to sub-atomic particles, including the Uncertainty Principle (the more precisely the position is determined, the less precisely the momentum is known in this instant, and vice versa) and the Complementarity Principle (a tenet that a complete knowledge of phenomena on atomic dimensions requires a description of both wave and particle properties). And at the same time it overlays those gray areas on the level of human interaction.

Questions of Heisenberg's true motivation for visiting Bohr remain without definitive answers: Was Heisenberg, with a military boss (Hitler) bent on exterminating the Jewish population, looking for some sort of absolution from his former collaborator? Was he pumping Bohr for information on where things stood with the Americans in terms of development of a nuclear bomb? Or was he simply cautioning his friend of the dangers that lay ahead?

At the same time, this dense drama works on many layers – all of them fascinating and thought-provoking.

Woodstock-Katrina relief concert

Featuring 2 days of vintage performances by Chicagoland's premier tribute bands and local original artists

Beginning on Friday at 6 p.m., Sept. 23, and running through Sunday morning, The Katrina Relief Concert organized by Sam Leach, American English, Onesti Entertainment, and Michael and Joeleen Stanard, will be held at the newest outdoor concert venue, is located in the tiny Village of Greenwood, just north of Historic Woodstock, Illinois. The venue features a 50' X 70' covered stage with lawn seating for over 12,000. The venue is located at 5112 Greenwood Road, next to Galt Airport.

Sam Leach, manager of American English, Liverpool resident and original promoter of the Beatles, is also coordinating an identical Katrina Relief concert internationally. American English (Beatles Tribute), Instant Karma (John Lennon Tribute), Elevation (U2 Tribute), The New Invaders (60's tribute), Hot Rocks (Rolling Stones Tribute), Problem Child (AC/DC tribute) and Midway City Ramblers (Cajun Tribute), will be performing this benefit concert on Friday beginning at 6 p.m. A special guest appearance will be made by Thaddeus Richard, a former member of Paul McCartney's Wings band and a hurricane Katrina survivor from the New Orleans area.

American English

Hot Rocks

Richard was the clarinet soloist in the Wings song "Listen To What the Man Said," and many other Wings songs. Thaddeus also played with McCartney in New Orleans on his Driving Rain Tour in 2002. He will be speaking about the devastation that occurred in New Orleans and accompanying American English.

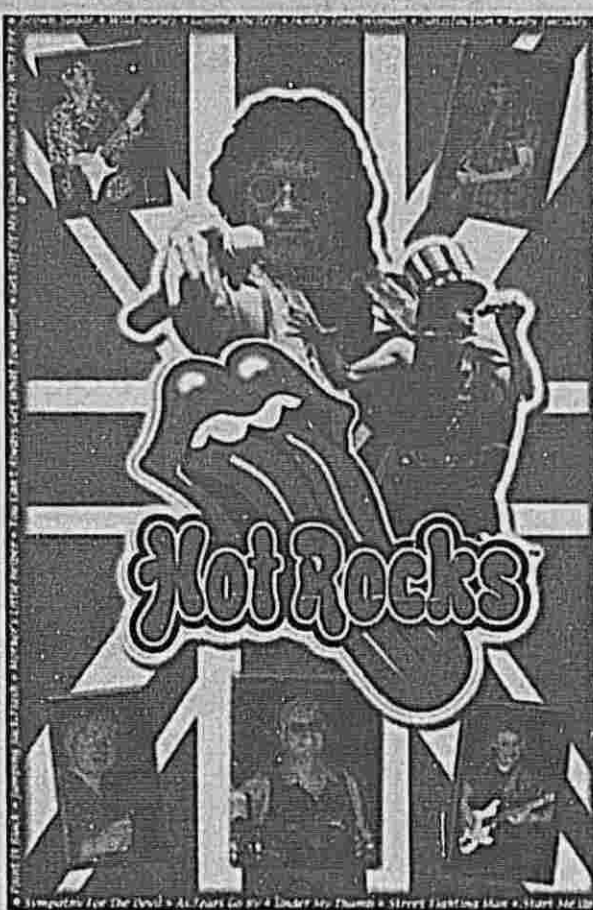

Some seating is available, and blankets, umbrellas and lawn chairs are recommended for comfort. Special accommodations will be made for the disabled.

Tribute performances will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, run until 4 a.m. on Saturday.

Donuts and coffee will be available for breakfast purchase until the "Jam Band" begins at 12 p.m., featuring a wide array of original artists: Punsapaya, Madvine, Malfunctor, Sweet Pick, Tall Grass Magicians, Venetian Red, Rob Webster and Friends, Dag Juhlin of Poi Dog Pondering.

One hundred percent of the admissions

Citadel Theatre opens 1st show of season

Actor/comedian/screenwriter/novelist/and wild and crazy guy Steve Martin has managed to add "historian" and "playwright" to his expanding resume. After tackling an in depth study of the ancient Egyptian Pharaoh, King Tut (born in Arizona, raised in Babylonia), Martin set his scholarly sights on two of the twentieth century's most compelling and influential historical figures.

This brilliantly creative and zany "what if?" scenario brings young and upcoming Picasso and Einstein together at the Lapin Agile, a Parisian café in 1904, each on the brink of forging their momentous imprints on the worlds of physics and art. Through the thought provoking, comedic eyes of the author, we realize that these two young men are not so different after all as they employ their unique left and right brain perspectives to discuss everything from physics and art to the pop culture and scientific achievements of their day. "I think they're very similar, and I wanted to make that point," Martin said. "In thought process and in the area of creativity, at the highest level, art and science are about people being very, very intuitive and making gigantic leaps."

This highly acclaimed production of Picasso at the Lapin Agile premiered at Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre and enjoyed rave's in Los Angeles, and New York. So come eavesdrop on the conversation of the century along with a colorful cast of bystanders, including a flamboyant art dealer, the bourgeois proprietor and his saucy mistress, one of Picasso's bohemian female friends, an elderly cantankerous Parisian, a blundering American inventor and a certain dark haired swivel hipped singer time warped in from a later era.

"Very good fun." N.Y. Times. "A major treat" Newsday. Winner of the Outer Critic Circle Award for Best Broadway Play.

The cast includes Dan Deuel of Gurnee, Tom Beck of Round Lake, Alexis Armstrong of Glencoe, Ron Weiner of Highland Park, Matt Hendricks of Evanston and Andy Baldeschwiler, Tom McGrath, Scott Fenstermaker and Tiffany Bedwell of Chicago. Scott Phelps of Lake Forest directs.

The play will be presented at The Center for the Performing Arts at Gorton, 400 E. Illinois, Lake Forest, downstairs in the "Grotto" a 70-seat "black box" theatre providing an intimate space for the Citadel Theatre Co. performances. This is the first of 5 plays in Citadel's first subscription season. All plays in this years season address the artist's process, passions, and peccadilloes.

Picasso at the Lapin Agile opens Sept. 22 and runs until Oct. 16. Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sunday Matinee at 2 p.m. Tickets are $20 General Admission and $17 for students and seniors. Subscriptions still available for as little as $59 for the 5 shows. Call Citadel for tickets at 847-735-8554 or Gorton Center at 847-234-6060.

In the Sept. 2 edition of Lakeliffe the article "Unraveling Rhythms show coming to CLC" listed an incorrect phone number for show tickets. That number is 847-543-2300.

The Lake County Folk Club presents Kate MacLeod and Kat Eggleston

The Lake County Folk Club's 2005-2006 concert season starts on a finger-picking fiddling high note on Sunday, September 18th as it proudly presents the musical duet of Kate MacLeod & Kat Eggleston at its Concert Stage at 7 p.m. at the Greenleaf Grill, 301 Greenleaf, Park City, Illinois.

The musical duet of Kate MacLeod & Kat Eggleston literally started on both sides of America's coastlines.

Kate MacLeod was born in Baltimore, Maryland and grew up near Washington DC. While performing in her teenage years as a violinist in orchestras and chamber music groups she also fostered a strong interest in traditional music by playing fiddle (now her main instrument.)

Kat Eggleston was raised on Vashon Island in the State of Washington. It was there she learned to sing harmony from her mother as well as study classical piano for a dozen years.

MacLeod then went on to Salt Lake City, Utah where she studied violin making and then later worked as an instructor at the Violin Making School of America. During these years she also performed in a variety of celtic, bluegrass, and old-time stringband ensembles in the area. By the 1990's Kate had composed a large body of songs and had recorded two bluegrass-flavored albums with a steady audience fan base built throughout the years.

Meanwhile Eggleston was playing the national folk music festival circuit and appeared in the musical "Woody Guthrie's American Song" eventually moving to Chicago where she now resides. All the while, of course, Eggleston was eloquently finger-picking away at her acoustic guitar, hammering away on her dulcimer, writing lyrically literate original songs, and singing in her distinctive alto voice.

Both Kate MacLeod and Kat Eggleston each individually have compiled an impressive discography of albums. MacLeod's latest release is called, "Breakfast" and was a cooperative project by Kate MacLeod and the Pancakes and received a five star rating from Roots Music Report. Eggleston just released an outstanding new album called, "The Only Word" that is now receiving extensive airplay on WFMT's Midnight Special.

Audiences on Sept. 18 will be privileged to be treated to that special individual and collective musical magic as Kate MacLeod & Kat Eggleston appear in concert together at the Greenleaf Grill at 7 p.m.

Opening for Kate MacLeod & Kat Eggleston

Kate MacLeod & Kat Eggleston on Sept. 18 at 7 p.m. at the Greenleaf Grill in Park City.

will be local Lake County Folk member, performer, and songwriter D. Lee.

The Lake County Folk Club Concert Stage Series is on Sunday, Sept. 18 at 7 p.m. at the Greenleaf Grill, 301 Greenleaf, Park City, Illinois. Admission is $10. $8 for Lake County Folk Clubmembers. $5 for Seniors/Students. For additional information call 847-295-7228.

Convenience a key ingredient in 'Ready, Set, Dough' dessert

With a little help from a food processor or bread machine, making cookie dough, a pie shell or loaf of bread couldn't be easier.

But not everyone has the time or inclination to bake from scratch.

"Ready, Set, Dough!" (Broadway Books) by Melanie Barnard offers a way out.

Her book, with more than 100 recipes, is aptly subtitled "Incredibly easy and delicious ways to use store-bought dough."

While we avoid ready-made cookie and pie dough, puff pastry is another matter altogether. Frozen puff pastry is a time-saver, an unbeatable convenience. And Barnard's tasty recipe for Gateau Pithiviers, a French-inspired double-crusted almond-filled tart, is excellent.

Tom Witom

COOKING BY THE BOOK

Gateau Pithiviers

- 1 7-oz. tube almond paste, broken into 6 or 7 pieces
- 1/3 cup packed brown sugar
- 3 Tbl. unsalted butter, softened
- 2 eggs

- 1 17.3-oz. box frozen puff pastry, thawed but well chilled
- 1 whole almond, optional
- 2 tsp. granulated sugar
- 8 large or 24 small whole strawberries, preferably with stems

In a food processor, puree the almond paste with the brown sugar and butter until smooth, about 30 seconds. In a small dish, beat the eggs until blended. Remove and set aside about 1 tablespoon beaten egg. Add the remaining eggs to the food processor and process until smooth, about 10 seconds. Refrigerate the filling until ready to use, at least 20 minutes or up to 2 hours.

On a lightly floured surface, roll one sheet of puff pastry to an 11-in. square. Use a small knife to cut around corners to form an approximately 11-in. circle. Place the circle on a large ungreased baking sheet. Spoon and spread the filling to within 1 inch of the edge. If you are using the whole almond, push it into the filling now.

Roll the other sheet of puff pastry to an 11-in. square. As in Step 2, cut into an 11-in. circle. Brush the edges of the top and bottom pastry to moisten, then place the top pastry, moistened side down, over the filling.

Press the edges together firmly to seal. Use a pastry wheel, pizza cutter or sharp knife to cut an even, decorative edge around the circle. Sprinkle the top with the granulated sugar. Use a small, sharp knife to make curved slashes from the center to the pressed edge, like a pinwheel. Place the baking sheet in the freezer for 10 minutes.

Preheat the oven to 425 degrees F. Bake the pastry for 15 minutes, then reduce the oven temperature to 350 degrees F and bake until the pastry is rich golden brown, 25 to 30 minutes more. Use two large spatulas to transfer the pastry to a rack to cool slightly, then transfer to a serving board or tray.

Serve, warm or at room temperature, cut into wedges. Garnish with the strawberries.

Note: If you use almond paste in a can, which is firmer than almond paste in a tube, you may need to add another egg or part of a beaten egg. Add the additional egg a little at a time so that the filling will still hold the shape and not run out of the tart.

A non-traditional but delicious chocolate pithiviers is made by adding 3 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa to the filling.

Spice it up

The chicken wing first evolved from soup stock staple to American delicacy in 1964. John E. Harmon, in his Atlas of Popular Culture of the Northeastern United States, points to the Anchor Bar in Buffalo, N.Y. as the birthplace of wings. In 40-plus years, chicken wings have become a truly all-American food, showing up on dinner tables, at neighborhood bars, and in chain restaurants, pizza joints and even restaurants where the wings themselves are the focus.

With this recipe, Pace Foods has taken the delicacy created in snowy Buffalo and made it the perfect summer food.

These wings are portable enough to carry around in a picnic basket, they're easy to eat (even at the beach), they go well with an array of cold beverages and they're a perfect accompaniment to watching a baseball game on a lazy Sunday afternoon, be it at the ballpark or inside under the air conditioning. For more recipes, log onto www.pace-foods.com.

Hot 'N' Honeyed Chicken Wings

- 1 cup Pace Picante Sauce
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 12 chicken wings (tips removed) or 24 drumettes

Mix picante sauce, honey and ginger.

Cut wings in half at joints to make 24 pieces. Toss wings with picante sauce mixture. Place in foil-lined shallow baking pan.

Bake at 400°F 55 minutes or until glazed and done, turning and brushing often with sauce during last 30 minutes.

Makes 24 appetizers

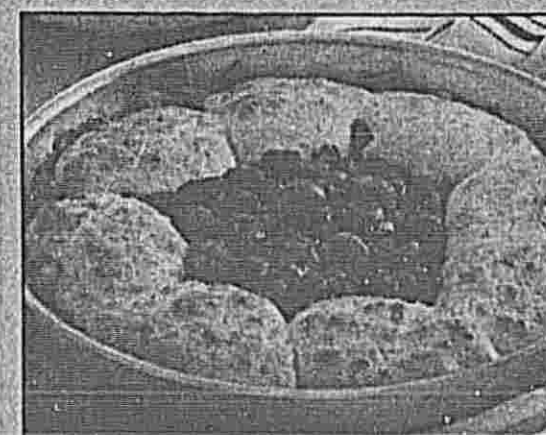

One-Skillet Spaghetti Mac

- 1/2 cup Original Bisquick mix
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder, if desired
- 1 cup water, divided
- 1 egg
- 1 pound lean (at least 80%) ground beef
- 2 cups spaghetti sauce
- 1 cup uncooked small elbow macaroni

1. Heat oven to 375°F. In small bowl, stir together baking mix, cheese, garlic powder, 1/4 cup water and egg; set aside.

2. In ovenproof 10-inch skillet, cook beef over medium heat about 8 minutes, stirring occasionally, until brown; drain. Stir in spaghetti sauce, remaining 3/4 cup water and macaroni. Heat to boiling, about 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Spoon baking mixture around edge of skillet, leaving center open.

3. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until top is golden brown. Sprinkle with additional Parmesan if desired.

Pump it up with pumpkin

Pumpkin Curry Soup

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup (1 small) chopped onion
- 2 large cloves garlic, finely chopped
- 1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
- 3 cups chicken broth
- 1 can (15 ounces) Libby's 100% Pure Pumpkin
- 1 can (12 fluid ounces) Nestlé Carnation Evaporated Milk

Melt butter in large saucepan over medium-high heat. Add onion and garlic; cook, stirring frequently, 2 to 3 minutes or until tender. Stir in curry powder, salt and pepper; cook 1 minute.

Add broth and pumpkin; bring to boil. Reduce heat to low; cook, stirring occasionally, 15 to 20 minutes. Stir in evaporated milk. Transfer mixture to food processor or blender (in batches, if necessary); cover. Blend until smooth. Serve warm.

Makes 6 servings

Thai Pumpkin Satay

- 1 cup Libby's 100% Pure Pumpkin
- 2/3 cup (5 fluid-ounce can) Nestlé Carnation Evaporated Milk
- 1/3 cup creamy or chunky peanut butter
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, peeled
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh cilantro
- 2 tablespoons lime juice
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons granulated sugar
- 1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 4 (about 1 pound total) boneless, skinless chicken breast halves, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 2 large red bell peppers, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 2 bunches green onions, cut into 1-inch pieces (white parts only)
- 30 (4-inch) skewers bowl; cover. Marinate in refrigerator, stirring occasionally, 1 hour.

Alternately thread chicken, bell peppers and green onion pieces onto skewers. Discard any remaining marinade. Grill or broil, turning once, for 10 minutes or until chicken is no longer pink. Heat remaining pumpkin mixture; serve with satay.

Note: If using wooden skewers, soak in water for 30 minutes before threading.

Makes about 30 appetizer servings

Pumpkin Apple Butter

- 1 can (15 ounces) Libby's 100% Pure Pumpkin
- 1 medium apple, peeled and grated
- 1 cup apple juice
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 3/4 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

Combine pumpkin, apple, apple juice, sugar and pumpkin pie spice in medium, heavy-duty saucepan. Bring to boil; reduce heat to low. Cook, stirring occasionally, 1 1/2 hours. Serve with buttermilk biscuits, breads, corn muffins or hot cereal. Store in airtight container in refrigerator up to 2 months.

Makes 3 cups

opening this week

The Baxter: In the typical romantic comedy there's always that scene at the end where the leading man or woman bursts through the chapel doors just as the leading lady or man is about to marry the "wrong person." This movie is about the guy left at the altar. The wrong guy. That guy is called The Baxter. The Baxter is the kind of guy you "settle" for because you can't be with the one you really love. (PG-13)

And no one's ever been more of a Baxter than tax accountant Elliot Sherman, played by writer/director/star Michael Showalter. Nice but safe, Elliot has been left at the proverbial 'altar' more than once. From high school to college to business school, Elliot always finds himself on the losing end of the love triangle. This film is reminiscent of the classic American romantic comedies of the forties, where nice guys finish first.

The Exorcism of Emily Rose (PG-13): A lawyer (Laura Linney) takes on a negligent homicide case involving a priest (Tom Wilkinson) who performed an exorcism on a young woman which resulted in her death. Inspired by true events, in an extremely rare decision, the Catholic Church officially recognized the demonic possession of a 19-year-old college freshman. Told in flashbacks, the film recalls the haunting trial of the priest accused of negligence resulting in the death of the young girl believed to be possessed. The courtroom drama is excellent and the presentation of the pros and cons of medical science mixing with spiritual beliefs has overtones that remind one of serious religious issues (e.g. "Passion of the Christ"). You will find the film highly entertaining but not necessarily scary, as the previews try to convey. What may turn out to be the next best scare to the shower scene in "Psycho" is to awaken suddenly at 3 a.m., seemingly the bewitching hour, when demons choose to visit.

Almost Funny

Andy Fidler (Eugene Levy of "American Pie") is a dental supply salesman, with a charming wife and three lovely daughters who adore him. He's on his way to Detroit for a convention where he is to give a big speech and he's practicing so much that you fear he'll be tongue tied with stage fright at the moment of truth. He's Mr. Milquetoast, without a mean bone in his body.

Special Agent Derrick Vann (Samuel L. Jackson) is under suspicion by Internal Affairs; the agent played by Miguel Ferrer (TV's "Crossing Jordan" and last year's "Manchurian Candidate"). IA thinks Vann is a dirty cop, as his partner was killed in an underworld gun buy. He was probably snuffed because he was a dirty loose end that needed to be tied up. Add that to the fact that when one cop is dirty, 90 percent of the time, so is his partner. Vann is a man to watch.

Vann uses his influence in the property section to borrow money, off the books, to purchase guns as a way to get behind who killed his partner. Vann makes a contact and arrangements are made for him to conduct the initial transaction at a coffee shop counter. He's supposed to read the USA Today Newspaper while having his breakfast. But when Vann gets there, the newspaper machine is sold out (nice play on working a product placement into the story), so he walks down the street to buy one. By the time he gets back, Andy, who is sitting at the counter reading USA Today, is assumed to be the gun buyer. Andy hesitantly looks in the bag left for him and to his surprise pulls out a gun that he inadvertently points at his waitress. Pandemonium breaks out and Vann soon determines that there is a serious case of mistaken identity.

This clever setup makes Vann and Andy reluctant partners. Vann sees Andy as the perfect, undercover agent, as he is so guileless that no crook would believe he was "the man." The remainder of the film deals with how they finally trap bad guy Joey (Luke Goss of "Blade II"), Andy makes his speech, and Vann is redeemed by IA. You see all this coming, so this is not a spoiler.

Eugene Levy is the saving grace in this picture, if not for him

it's a routine, by the numbers Hollywood comedy. He is so funny in this movie one has to wonder how he is around family and friends. Can he have a normal side? The sub plot of the Internal Affairs Inspector along with Jackson's boss Lt. Carbone (Susie Essman of "The Secret Lives of Dentists") added a serious tone to the film without detracting from the comedy. Jackson was Okay and Goss was effective as a cold-blooded killer.

The flutulent jokes and car chase scenes are beyond tired at this point, especially for something that aims to be a notch above the "American Pie"-type gross out films. One scene involving cops with drawn guns and itchy trigger fingers doesn't play well in a comedy. From our point of view, you can't have a scene like that and get a laugh. To the extent you do, it puts a chill over the film that it's not aiming for.

Detroit was recently rated as the most liberal political city in the country and with the down and out viewpoint that it gets in films ("8 Mile," "Four Brothers," Narc, to name a few) there is a message here that we're not sure we want to understand. That said, the film does have its funny moments and the chemistry between Jackson and Levy works. It's not a bad film but it could have been quite a bit better.

A conversation with Eugene Levy of 'The Man'

By George O. Singleton

Some of you know Eugene Levy from his Second City days back in the late '70s. More will know him from the films "Best in Show" and "A Mighty Wind", both of which he wrote and acted in. Even more fans will recall his roles in the "American Pie" series of movies and "Bringing Down the House." After his co-starring appearance with Samuel L. Jackson in "The Man," for many he'll now be a household name.

George Singleton: Are you doing a big tour across the country to promote this film?

Eugene Levy: No, it's a small one. We're doing Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit.

GS: Was any part of the movie filmed in Detroit, which is often portrayed in less than a positive light? Other than the scumbags and hard nose cops portrayed in the film, there was a nice sub plot regarding Jackson and his family. Chicago has seen its movie industry revived to something other than just distant landscape shots and I was wondering if Detroit was also sharing in that good fortune.

EL: It was principally filmed in Toronto and parts in Los Angeles. They got nothing on this one. It's true that they (Detroit) have a tough city rap.

GS: That's unfortunate, as films like "8 Mile," "Narc," and "Four Brothers" reinforce that belief. It would be nice if they were creating some jobs from their notoriety. Still, this picture was far from bleak.

In the past your roles have primarily been supporting. How does it feel to be "The Man?"

EL: It's scary but fun. This is not something I am consciously looking for...starring roles. I'm a character guy. I'll always be that. Those are not necessarily the lead roles in a movie. I've been real comfortable doing what I'm doing (in about 70 movies over the past 30 years). Recently the parts have been more substantial, even though they are support roles.

"Bringing Down the House" was a great role for me. I had to think about "The Man," as it was a big role and it was important that the character had an arc to it.

GS: In looking back at your body of work, which film stands out as your favorite?

After much musing, he gravitates to "American Wedding" and "Bringing Down the House," although he mentions "A Mighty Wind" and "Best in Show." He is also quite pleased with a picture he just finished called "Cheaper by the Dozen 2" with Steve Martin and Piper Perabo.

EL: "American Wedding" opened me up to an entirely new audience. It was a fun and important role because a lot of young people saw me as the ideal father who stood by their kids no matter what. "Bringing Down the House" exposed me to a large African American audience, who appreciated both the character I played as well as the humor.

To be an effective comedian that does not wear out his welcome after three decades of exposure requires a lot of talent. Much of what makes a comedian funny is to be able to write their own material and to make the delivery of the written script seem spontaneous. Levy was very complimentary to Vince Vaughn ("The Wedding Crashers") for having this skill. It was clear that Levy was pleased with his ability to connect with different audiences over time, that had not previously paid close attention to him. This says that he is continuing to grow and that as he matures, getting older does not mean running out of the spark of life that makes one tick. It's great to see someone who is comfortable with himself when others around them literally have more fame and fortune.

Lowering pet overpopulation

Puppy mills are atrocious for what they are but there is a bigger picture. For each dog born from a breeder—puppy mill or not—a dog or cat dies in a shelter.

Six to 12 millions dogs and cats are put to sleep each year. (An exact number has been impossible to calculate.) This is no joke; I have seen the bodies of the dead animals after they were put to sleep stacked one on top of the other.

It is not the fault of the shelters that they have to put animals to sleep; it is society's fault. If I was a shelter manager and the animals kept coming and space ran out, I too would have to make decisions. The shelters are just a result of what we have done and it is them who are picking up the pieces. Having all no-kill shelters is illogical and impossible because there are not enough homes for the number of animals needing them, period.

That's why we must stop buying from pet stores, which only supports puppy mills. We must limit breeding because there are already too many animals. Laws must be enacted limiting breeding. We must first and foremost adopt and save what we can and lower the overpopulation. Finally, we all must spay and neuter our pets. Just think of the dog or cat, perfectly healthy, the ideal pet, it's life cut short too early because there is no home for him.

Liza and Livy

Found as a stray pair, both must be adopted out together. Liza is an 8-month-old black cocker spaniel and is a little shy. Livy is a 5-year-old shepherd mix who still acts like a puppy and loves to give kisses. Both open up and show lots of love when playing together.

Peanut

He's got two different color eyes and would love to talk to you about it. This 10-year-old domestic short-hair orange tabby loves to talk and cuddle with you. He's good with other cats.

Magnum P.I.

He hopes the third time is a charm after being adopted out twice and returned for being too active as a kitten and because his other owner moved. Magnum is a 2-year-old domestic shorthair brown tabby with white who likes to play and is still active.

Carter

A playful shepherd/Doberman mix, this 5-and-a-half-year-old used to climb fences before a back injury cut that short. He was adopted out for almost two months, but needs a new home where he can sniff around and take long walks.

These pets are available for adoption at Save-A-Pet, at 31664 N. Fairfield Road, Grayslake. For information, call 847-740-7788 or go to www.save-a-pet-il.org.

Dog for adoption: Carmen

Carmen, a one-year-old shepherd lab mix, is still looking for that forever home. She waits in limbo for that perfect family. She is loyal, friendly and obedience trained. Please e-mail us if you'd like to adopt Carmen at aeart1@anet.com.

Yacht club's Regatta tradition going strong

A Chain O' Lakes tradition figures to be as strong as ever as the Pistakee Yacht Club prepares for the 46th Annual C Scow Blue Chip Regatta.

The event will be Sept. 17 and 18. Participants must qualify by having top finishes in regattas sailed in Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, New York and Illinois. Winning skippers in nine regattas, and the top 10 skippers in the two biggest regattas are invited. Pistakee Yacht Club is located at 3330 Rocky Beach Road in Johnsburg.

"We always have a mystery guest each year. One year, Ted Turner came, and we have had the America's Cup winners," said Catherine Boettcher, co-owner of PYC.

The day is dependent on Mother Nature supplying enough wind power. Some years, the wait has taken to well into the afternoon.

PYC also invites a top sailor recognized world wide in sailing and champions in other classes. This year, Bill Draheim, from Gus Sails in Texas has accepted an invitation to the C Scow Blue Chip Regatta. Draheim holds eight national sailing titles (Thistles, J22, Flying Scott, Hobie 33, Coronado 15) twice Champion of Champions winner, winner of the O Day US Sailing Single-Handed Championship, and twice a finalist for Rolex Yachtsman of the Year.

Class C racing scows is 20 feet long with a 29-foot mast and carries 240 square feet of sail with no leaded keel and high power to weight ratio. Skipper and crew, two or three people, depending on the wind, must shift their weight constantly to avoid capsizing.

Pistakee Lake is part of both Lake and McHenry county. The Lake and McHenry County Marine Police units will patrol the racing area. Two races are scheduled for Sept. 17, at 9:30 a.m. and a third at about 2:30 p.m. Two more races are scheduled for Sept. 18, at 9:30 a.m., weather permitting.

Boettcher said about 150 to 200 people generally attend.

There will be trophy presentation and luncheon to follow.

The event has a rich history, dating back to the spring of 1960, when Rear Commodore John E. Looze, along with Dr. Alex Pomierski, approached the PYC to request permission to have the club sponsor such a post-season regatta, the second weekend after Labor Day.

The first Blue Chip Regatta took place Sept. 17, 18 of 1916 with a fleet of 13 boats. Jim Laughlin of Powers Lake, Wis. took first place for two races on Saturday and a seventh on Sunday to become the first champion.

For more information, call C.R. Peterson at 815-385-1331 or Robert Boettcher, 847-587-4445.

Days of whine and hoses

Warning...back away from the tomatoes and nobody gets hurt!

That's pretty much the message my mom wrote to stick on her struggling tomato plants this blistering summer. She's tired that some salad freak looking for an antioxidant fix keeps slipping past "Tomato Security" to pluck her few Big Boys—no small feat since a fortress of chicken wire and a neighborhood "vegetable" watch protects the four tomato plants in question.

Like many of us, mom is dealing with this summer's drought by making do and doing without. (Who needs to see a summer horror flick when Lake County is overrun with "hose zombies" going bump in the night—moaning creatures lugging hoses around every other evening during designated watering hours.)

But even after hours of dribbling water over my own brown patch, I can't shake the smell of parched earth and thoughts of another er scorcher back in the 1930s, when a stray cigarette turned my grand pop's "Park Island"—with its rides, laughter, and dancing—into charred ruins. All pop could do was listen as his burning piano played its death knell.

Now pop bought his park on credit during boom times, like many farmers in the Great Plains who were scalping the earth to satisfy demand. Then interest rates rose, the stock market crashed, and arid winds blew the over-cultivated plains all the way to Chicago. Both country and city mouse ended up without a leg to stand on, and with no government safety net to provide a leg up.

But today the big news is how to salvage landscape turf, not that crops are once again withering in the fields. Well, we Americans must have our priorities straight because we're too smart to get burned twice.

Apparently we're confident that the appropriate safeguards will prevent another economic or environmental disaster.

Leslie Clazier-Werner

Let's see. Widespread destitution during the Depression resulted in the landmark Social Security Act of 1935. So now Uncle Sam wouldn't think of leaving us high and dry. Right?

And CNN reports that no money down "piggy back" mortgages now account for almost half of all home purchases. But forget all the hokum about a "housing bubble", even if interest rates are rising.

And don't believe those dire predictions that poor conservation and global warming will produce more "dustbowls" on a scale that buried farmers in the 1930's. When the World Bank reports that two thirds of the world's population will be without adequate water by 2025, it must be the "other guy's" problem.

So let's not worry about Rome burning, and get back to saving our perennials.

Bean reticent on British war memo

By Brenda Balin

Staff Reporter

Melissa Bean (D-Barrington), representing the 8th Congressional District, is taking a cautious stance on HR375. This is a House resolution calling for an investigation into the "Downing Street Memos," documents that may provide evidence that President Bush was intent on invading Iraq as early as July 2002, and may have deceived Congress about the reasons for going to war.

At a Sept. 1 town hall meeting, held at Palombi Middle School,

Bean presented a list of her accomplishments in the first eight months of her first term, and fielded questions from an audience of about 70 people.

When asked about her position on the resolution, Bean said she was having her staff explore the question.

The resolution was introduced by Rep. Barbara Lee (D-California) and 26 co-sponsors on July 21, almost three years to the day from the date of the documents, which are actually the minutes of the British prime min-

Government, area leaders invited to traffic summit

On Sept. 15, at 7:30 a.m., at the College of Lake County Grayslake Campus, Lake County Partners, the county's economic development corporation along with leaders from the business community, state and local governments and transportation experts, will meet to collaborate on a list of priority transportation projects.

Officials from the Illinois Department of Transportation, Illinois Toll Highway Authority and Lake County Division of Transportation will take part in the discussion.

The goal of the meeting is to develop consensus on actionable transportation mitigation projects that government leaders can advocate for at the state and federal level.

A facilitator from the DePaul University Chaddick Institute will lead a panel discussion of the transportation leaders to identify projects based on specified criteria.

After the panel discussion, small group discussion will be held with a facilitator for participants to prioritize projects. The group will reconvene and the facilitator will present the consensus prioritization of road improvement projects.

Agencies rally to gather hurricane relief efforts

The Northern Illinois Food Bank is coordinating the collection of food and funds locally in response to the need caused by Hurricane Katrina in states that have been impacted.

Funds raised will go directly to helping Network food banks maintain or resume food assistance during this critical time.

The NIFB has set up a local collection site at its Lake County branch at 473 Keller Drive in Park City, 847-336-3663, to help with the relief efforts.

To make a financial donation directly to Northern Illinois Food Bank, visit www.north-ernillfoodbank.org or call 630-443-6910.

Farm Bureau helping

In an ongoing effort of helping families and groups in times of need, the Lake County Farm Bureau is working to help victims.

The Lake County Farm Bureau Board of Directors has approved a dollar-for-dollar match program for the American Red Cross. The Farm Bureau will match every dollar donated up to $5,000 in September. Other matching programs will be sought after that.

Residents interested in donating can make a check payable to the American Red Cross, which will allow individuals to deduct their contributions on their taxes as well. Checks should not be payable to Farm Bureau. Donations should be sent to Hurricane Relief c/o Lake County Farm Bureau, 70 Route 45, Grayslake, IL 60030. Cash and check donations may also be dropped off during normal business hours 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

For more information, contact Gregory Koeppen at 847-223-6506 or e-mail gkoeppen@ameritech.net. Updated donation information will be posted at www.LCFB.com.

'Strangler' label draws fed bucks

Two politicians are the immediate recipients of federal funding of $2.08 million "seed money" to eliminate the "Millburn Strangler" intersection of Rte. 45 and Grass Lake and Millburn Rds. Until Congresswoman Melissa Bean (D-8th) started putting her re-election bid together, the quirky corner was mainly an inconvenience for residents of Lindenhurst trying to get to a north-south thoroughfare.

With federal bucks heading into her district, County Chair Suzi Schmidt let it slip that she has been working for years to fix "the Strangler." Until the new federal transportation bill was being hashed out and Schmidt "revealed" her role in seeking relief for beleaguered motorists in the north-central part of the county, "The Strangler" was unknown as a major component of the county's overall highway mess.

Dare we ask. Just who has the "Millburn Strangler" been strangling all these years?

The $2.08 million will cover engineering costs for Route 45 bypass of the historic Millburn district that ultimately will cost an estimated $15 million. Wisconsin residents using north-south routing should be enjoying smoother sailing about 2011 when the bypass is completed. The vast majority of Lake County commuters will be fretting and stewing in gridlocked arterials. (We use the term "arterials" loosely).

More important, at least from a political perspective, is the fact that the Millburn bypass money is part of a $12.6 million Lake County portion of $24 million earmarked for the three-county 8th Congressional District. Prediction: We'll be hearing more about that when the 2006 Congressional election campaign starts heating up in a few months.

Lake County Division Of Transportation Director Marty Buehler regards the $2.8 grant as "pipe line" money, meaning that the Millburn project has priority over a good many other more pressing, in our opinion, highway construction needs.

As he should, Lindenhurst Mayor Jim Batustak sees the highway project as an improvement for his community. He's stretching credulity and the facts, though, by characterizing intersection backups at drive time as a major Lake County traffic headache. The mayor's enthusiasm is understandable and he can be excused for a bit of hyperbole. Bean's characterization of the bypass as a major improvement for the "quality of life" of Lake County is pure political balderdash.

Maybe the secret to getting highway money is to hang a catchy name on a highway problem. Don't laugh. It worked for Millburn. Bean and Schmidt will be the first to vouch for that.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Problems with Lake County Health Department

Something really smells at the Lake County Health Department. The County has instituted some rather strict regulations regarding the placement of wells and septic fields in unincorporated areas. If you are just an ordinary resident of the county your adherence to these regulations will be strictly enforced by the Health Department. On the other hand, if you are a 'Fat Cat' developer, contractor or politically connected person, you need not be concerned with these regulations. The Health Department will totally disregard its own regulations to accommodate favored people. It will accomplish this by issuing 'variances' to the regulations.

An example of this impropriety is situated right across the street from my home. For years a vacant lot was considered unbuildable because there was no way to legally place a septic field on this lot. I know of two instances where owners of this lot were denied building permits because of the problem with the septic field.

Now, a contractor purchases the lot and has no problem obtaining a building permit from the Health Department. Our wonderful Health Department has permitted the following violations to its own regulations:

The septic field will be located 5 feet from the adjacent lot line. The regulation requires at least 10 feet. The septic field will be located 5 feet from the road. The regulation requires at least 10 feet.

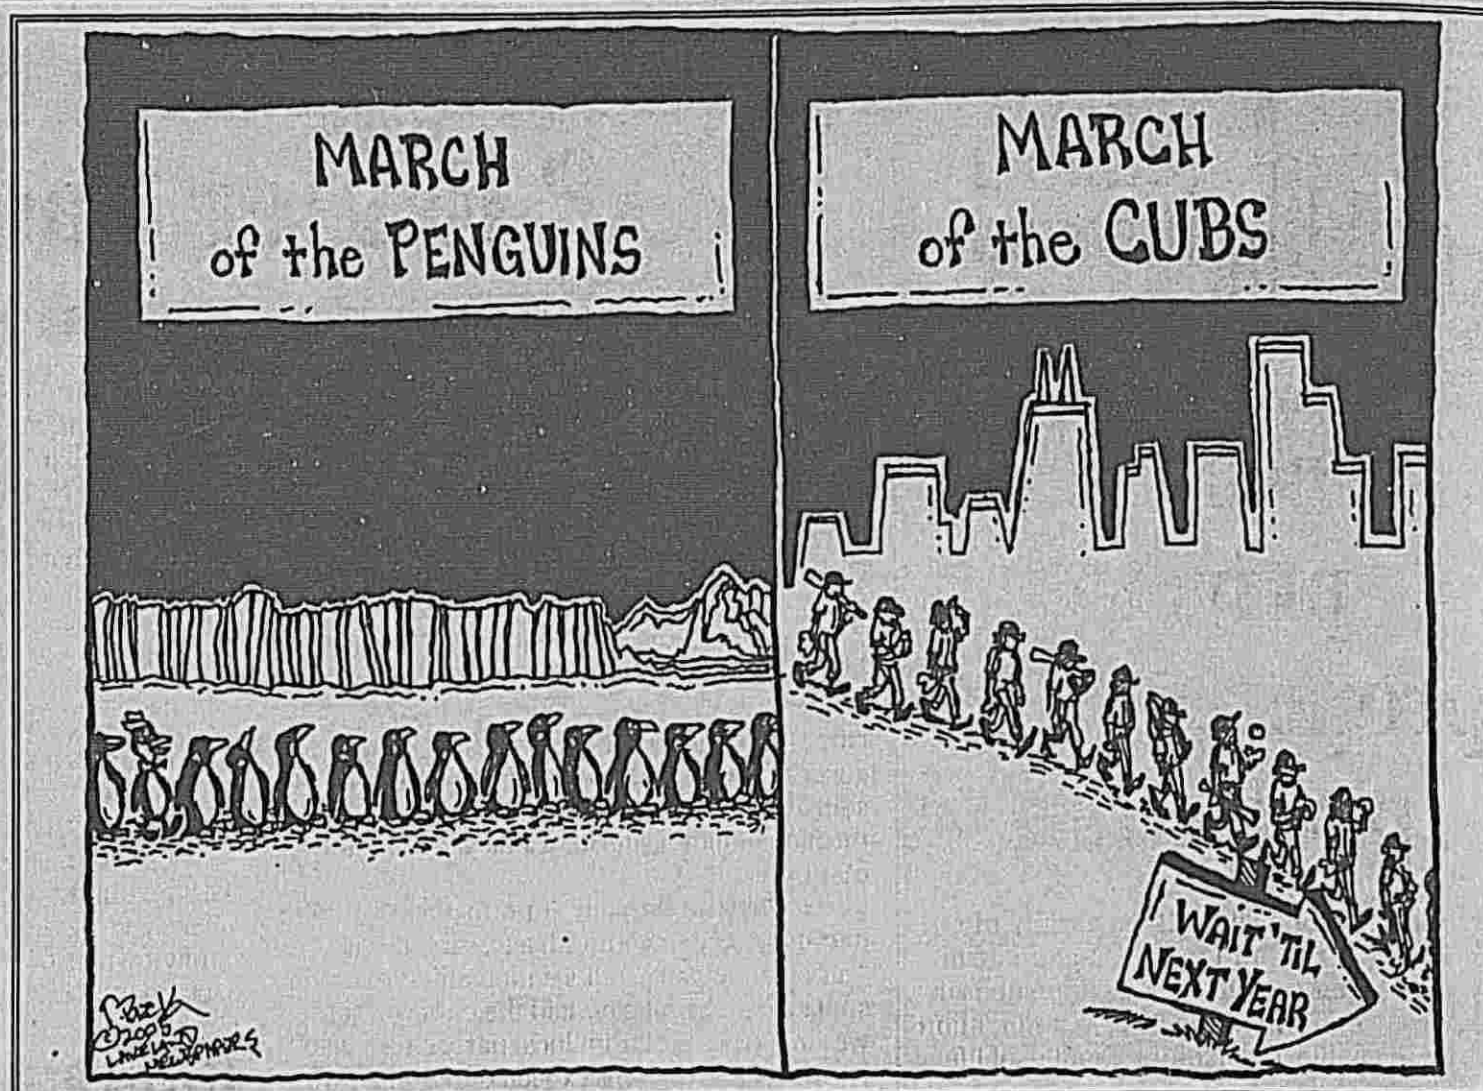

The septic field will be located 73 feet from the well on the property. The regulation requires at least 75 feet.

I had the opportunity to review the plans submitted to the Health Department. The distance from the neighbor's well across the street was shown to be exactly 75 feet. Actual measurement placed the septic field much closer. When this problem was brought to the attention of the Health Department, I was told in a very cavalier manner that they would simply issue yet another variance.

We have a serious problem with over development in Lake County. It's about time people started to insist that developers, contractors and politically connected people be required to follow regulations in the same manner as required of ordinary citizens. We don't need irresponsible Health Department employees endangering the health of county residents just to accommodate favored people.

PS. FYI, the Health Department employee responsible for the issuance of the variances is Anthony Smithson who works at the Lake Villa branch of the Health Department. I also complained directly to Dale Galassie, the head of the Health Department. I don't think you would be surprised if I told you he ignored me completely.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Praise for Wal-Mart

The question continues to be asked by all: Why should Wal-Mart or anything else be built because of its negative impact on Route 83 traffic? The real question should be: Why are the state roads inadequate? To blame Wal-Mart or any proposed business for inadequate roads misses the most important question: With gas at near $3 a gallon and the state collecting gas tax revenues hand-over-fist, who is getting the new improved roads? Where are the dollars going? Could it be the southern and eastern parts of Lake County, Chicago and Southern Illinois?

Many say the village of Round Lake Beach is being misled by the folks at Wal-Mart inflating the projected revenues; not so, the village knows what the revenues are from the current Wal-Mart, as they have been receiving them for many years. It is not rocket science to figure out that with a much larger store the revenues will be increased.

Some are very concerned about what Wal-Mart will do with the current store in Round Lake Beach. Wal-Mart has said they will actively market the property and until they sell it they must pay property tax.

As for the charge elected officials in Round Lake Beach are not safeguarding the interests of the residents, with the Lake Villa schools getting $300,000 or more per year (yes the proposed Wal-Mart is and will continue to be in the Lake Villa School District) and the village continuing to receive the $1,000,000 (plus the added revenue from a larger store), the argument can be made they are doing just that. Take away the current revenues and the property tax of each family in Round Lake Beach will increase well over $125 per year. The citizens who live in Round Lake Beach and are in the Lake Villa School District will get a double whammy as both taxes will go up minus a Wal-Mart. All who live in the Lake Villa School District will see school/property taxes increase even if they do not live in Round Lake Beach. As a resident, it sounds to me that the village leadership is doing an outstanding job of looking out for the vast majority of the people. Action on the proposed annexation and store construction has been postponed so that Mayor Hill and the trustees can gather even more information from both the developers and the residents.

The DNR has said they will study the environmental impact on sand cranes and other national resources; do you think the farmer who currently plants crops on the land plowed and planted around the wild life? Looks like a fully plowed and planted field to me. Some say the Wal-Mart will drive "Mom and Pop Stores out of business." When was the last time you went to a "Mom and Pop store" to purchase your underwear or sheets or any non-specialty item? Wal-Mart equals lower taxes, more jobs, better schools and lots of civic improvement. Traffic congestion on Route 83 is a problem for the State Of Illinois to solve, not Wal-Mart.

Price is worth it

As a former Army officer and veteran, I am amazed how the liberal and biased press is working to convince us that the two thousand servicemen who paid the ultimate sacrifice in Iraq is a waste and we should get out and come home.

They simply do not get it; have they forgotten the twenty-nine hundred who perished on Sept. 11.

President Bush has brought the terrorist war back to Iraq, eliminating Saddam Hussein and his many minions responsible for the deaths of over a half million Iraqis during his reign of terror.

The 2,000 brave Americans who gave their lives during the past two years is a tragic loss for all Americans.

According to national crime statistics, a person is actually 25 percent more likely to be shot and killed in our nation's capitol than on the streets of Iraq. I am afraid to add to this the fatalities from drive-by killings, shootings and murder in other American cities such as Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Miami, etc., etc.

If we were to follow the perverted logic of those who want us to get out of Iraq, the only other sensible thing we should then do is get out of Washington and maybe Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Miami, etc., etc.

We should all be thankful for President Bush and his leadership with this war, and the thousands of soldiers, sailors and airmen who are fighting to keep us free from terror.

Sheehan has her reasons

It is not surprising to see that the right-wing pro-war activists attack the messenger, Cindy Sheehan, by telling her to "go home and take care of her kids." How many of them have lost any of their kids in a war based on false pretenses? She engaged in her constitutional right to speak her mind against what she considers a falsehood that brought our country to a war in Iraq.

Bush's war was started on the premise that Iraq had weapons of mass destruction. That has been proven dead wrong, and it is unfortunate that too many are dead because of it.

Sheehan is the one who is right. She correctly answered her attackers by saying that "it is up to moms like me to make sure that all children are whole and safe." She said that she is doing that by "opposing wars that bury our kids."

The president's war continues to cause American casualties. Americans have lost total confidence in him and his war policies. And by large numbers, they now believe that those policies have made us less safe at home.

They will continue to attack the messenger. But, Sheehan is a tough mom, and she'll stand her ground to everyone, including the president. She is "one person who's right," and she already has a majority with her. Keep it up Cindy.

Overseas observations

Today I received a letter from SSG David J. Walsh, Outreach Coordinator, JASG-C Chaplain's office acknowledging receiving the 11 cases, or 132 boxes of various Girl Scout cookies that had been sent to the service people in Iraq and poor children in a Baghdad Hospital.

He said the people were extremely grateful for the humanitarian assistance to the local Iraqi families for making a difference in their lives, and those of the children.

I am happy that my office was able to bring a little happiness to those in need.

We now need to help our people in American that have been ravished by the storms this past weekend. I am sure any assistance would be greatly appreciated. If anyone would still like to contribute to our service people the items can be sent to: JASG-C Chaplain's Office, APO AE 09316

Homeowners, private property need protection

In a decision delivered last month, the U. S. Supreme Court made a nightmare of the "American Dream." That dream is to own your own home. It is the foundation of American life; it personifies quality of life in our free society.

For centuries, both the U. S. Constitution and the laws have protected private property owners against public seizures of their property unless for public uses and with just compensation. The recent decision turned the Constitution and legal precedent upside down by ruling in a 5-4 vote that local governments have the power to seize private property from one party to give it to another private party. In this case, homeowners were told that they could be forced from their homes and their property could be taken by the city so that developers could proceed with an office complex development.

It is a scary decision. Unheard of. And totally wrong.

Judge John Paul Stevens, in the majority opinion, said local officials know best in deciding whether an economic development project will benefit the community, and therefore be classified as a public use. Boy, doesn't that open the door as wide as can be to allow the takeover of private property for just about anything, and call it a "public use?"

Under the majority view, as the saying goes, "You aren't safe in your own home." And, how many homeowners can afford to hire lawyers to fight high-handed developers with deep pockets to represent their case?

I agree with retiring Judge Sandra Day O'Connor who wrote in a dissenting opinion that the beneficiaries are likely to be those citizens with disproportionate influence and power in the political process, including large corporations and development firms. She's right. The real victims will be the people with little means just trying to make ends meet so that they can live comfortably in their "dream castle."

The court decision did allow states to enact statutory protections to homeowners and private property owners against abusive takeovers of private property. Illinois has always been firm to avoid abuses that would take properties in unreasonable manners. We forbid the use of eminent domain powers for economic development unless it were categorized to eliminate blight. Illinois law is better protection than in many states, but I have a problem with the takeover of someone's land to combat blight, unless there are monumental safeguards. Look what happened to the law that created the Tax Increment Financing (TIF) District to eliminate blighted areas. It has been used as a tool to assist large developers to finance their projects and it would be a stretch to say they were blighted areas.

I was heartened to learn that almost immediately after this very disturbing Supreme Court decision, Sen. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest) scheduled a Senate hearing to insure that Illinois will continue to protect the constitutional rights of private property owners. She has been joined in her effort by Sen. Kirk Dillard (R-Hinsdale), who quickly criticized the court decision as an intrusion against homeowner's property rights.

People on both sides of the political spectrum when Supreme Court Justices are nominated should be concerned that the Court interpret the Constitution and the law, and not legislate from the bench. The recent eminent domain ruling is a classic example of the Court overreaching by doing more than interpreting the law.

PARTY LINES

GOP leader backs Brady for Gov.

An early visit on the campaign trail to Wauconda has earned Republican gubernatorial candidate State Sen. Bill Brady (R-Bloomington) an endorsement. Brady addressed area GOP members in Wauconda this spring.

Wauconda Township Republican Chairman Bob Cook has endorsed Brady's bid.

"I am impressed with Bill and his vision for Illinois. Bill will bring back jobs to Illinois. He will provide property tax relief, and he will eliminate the corruption that plagues state government today. His fresh ideas and leadership are exactly what the Republican Party and the State of Illinois need," Cook said in a statement.

Brady, who formally announced his candidacy for governor a month ago, said he was "very grateful" for Cook's endorsement. Brady's spokesman, Dan Egler, said the endorsement was one of several from local party chiefs. The Republican primary is expected to be a crowded one on March 21, 2006, leading up to the general election in November. The Republicans are seeking to take back the governorship lost when Rod Blagojevich was elected in 2002. Candidates include the possible return to political life of former Gov. Jim Edgar.

Brady, 44, has served in the Senate since 2002 and previously served in the Illinois House of Representatives from 1993 to 2001. He currently is the ranking Republican on both the Senate Insurance Committee and the Senate Pensions and Investment Committee.

A lifelong resident of Bloomington, Brady and his brothers have owned and operated successful home building and real estate marketing and development businesses throughout central Illinois.

This raise isn't so good

Having to raise fees to cover costs is never fun, especially if you are a new mayor.

Wauconda Mayor Sal Saccomanno found himself in that position after water and sewer rates lagged behind costs. "It was robbing Peter to pay Paul and Peter was never repaid," the first term mayor said.

Several Orchard Hills residents, some of the newest residents in town, and others, have complained about water and sewer bills more than $500.

"The rates had been ignored for 10 years," Saccomanno said. He added he has a much different perspective of things from behind the village board.

At the same meeting, Trustee Mark Knigge questioned landscaping costs for the village's new gazebo, donated by the Prosperi family, owners of Henri Studio, where Saccomanno is employed.

Taking aim

Political sniping occasionally raises its head in Antioch.

"Something magical happened after the election, and the spigot (of money) was opened," trustee Bob Caulfield told the village board last week.

That comment didn't sit well with newly-elected Mayor Dorothy Larson.

"When we spend money, it's because the board approved it," Larson said.

Of course, the balance of board votes tipped after the election, which could account for some of the changes in voting patterns.

Geo Karis: Hitting campaign trail for another term

John Ahlgrim, principal and deputy superintendent of the Dist. 1200 school, has taken up the ultra-trendy, Web-based diary-style habit of web logging, commonly known as "blogging."

Ahlgrim posted his first entry on Aug. 15 with notations about how exciting it was to have students back in the classroom.

Geo makes it official

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) threw her hat in the ring for re-election to her post, making it known on Round Lake Heights' brand-new radio station, WRLR-98.3 FM.

Geo-Karis was part of the station's inaugural broadcast and said she was excited about hitting the campaign trail once again.

"It is my goal to continue to serve my constituents to the best of my abilities and I pray that they allow me to continue to serve them in Springfield for a new term of office," she said.

Geo-Karis has been the state senator for her district since 1979, before that, she was a state representative for six years. She will be opposed in the GOP primary by Warren Township Supervisor Sue Simpson.

VIEWPOINT

Ease Cub hurting; reflect on '45 champs

Bill Schroeder
Publisher

Reliving the glories of the past is useful when the present is murky and the future is uncertain. A reflection on the messy situation in the Middle East? Nope. We're talking about a new baseball book with special appeal for fans who have ravished devotion on the Loveable North Side Losers for what is beginning to feel like eons.

"Wrigley Field's Last World Series" is an antidote for another season of failure, subtitled "The Wartime Chicago Cubs and the Pennant of 1945." Besides being a local Cub fan since boyhood in the Chicago area, author Charles N. Billington is uniquely qualified to salve the wounds of 60 years of hurt and disappointment. By profession, Billington is a licensed clinical social worker with 30 years of experience in mental health. In the Cub domain, Billington has no shortage of clients.

In 321 pages with 25 photos, Billington walks readers through a virtual day-by-day recapitulation of the historic season. Casual readers and less than die-hard fans might find the detailed individual game recaps of 1945 baseball a bit tedious, but Billington intersperses game replays with lively bios of the '45 Cubs. The personal tidbits about the pennant-winning Cubs are irresistible, like German-born reserve first baseman Heinz Becker whose bunions were so troublesome that he mostly was reduced to pinch hitting.

One of Billington's most telling accomplishments was debunking the myth that the '45 Cubs were accidental champs who benefited from gratuitous decisions of draft boards and luck of having their players in uniform released from active duty in time to play baseball. With loads of statistics that serious fans will enjoy, Billington proves that the '45 Cubs were a very good team, well versed in all phases of the game and easily the best team in the National League. The last World Series Cubs finished the half of their memorial season with a remarkable 750 winning percentage.

Baseball histories tend to be road trips of nostalgia. Billington doesn't let his readers down. Andy Pafko, one of the few remaining living members of that memorial squad sets the pace with a heartwarming forward. Andy came out of Boyceville, Wis., to drive in two runs with a double in his first major league at bat. He still makes his home in a Chicago suburb and is a regular attendee of baseball reunions and get-togethers.

How in the world did the Cubs conjure up a trade that would send fan-favorite and one of the best centerfielders in Chicago history Pafko, packing. Billington provides the gory details.

Unless you've been devouring Cub biographies for 50 years, there are interesting new bits in how the 1945 season unfolded. Left-fielder "Peanuts" Lowrey was a former childhood actor. Pitcher Paul Erickson of Zion carried the nickname of "The Milkman" not because of a youthful job, but off-season employment in the Rogers Park area.

Major leaguers all had off-season jobs in those days. Hank Borowy, the Yankee acquired at mid-season to insure the pennant, was the top salary earner at $18,000. The Cubs weren't stingy, though, ranking near the job of the 16 major league teams.

There are more than enough laughs in "Wrigley Field's Last World Series." The Cubs left for spring training in French Lick, Ind., with only six players, including two wannabees who claimed to have played for the Los Angeles Angels in 1944. The big thing about spring training that year was that Manager Charlie Grimm was able to piece together a roster of five catchers, 16 pitchers, 11 infielders and six outfielders.

From this group he selected an opening day lineup of Stan Hack, third; Lennie Merullo, shortstop; Phil Cavarretta, first; Bill Nicholson, right field; Ed Sauer, left. Andy Pafko, center; Don Johnson, second; Mickey Livingston, catcher and Paul Derringer, pitcher. A sold group and as it turned out impressive career years were recorded by a number of the Cubs, paced by Cavarretta's batting title.

One distinctive fact of the '45 Cubs was consistently good hitting. All the players experienced bad days and a few bad streaks, but their teammates picked up admirably.

Here are some facts sure to grab the attention of both die-hard and casual fans. The club offered three seating choices: box seats for $1.80, grandstand seating for $1.25, and bleacher seats for 60 cents. Hey, big spender. Wrigley Field capacity was 38,396, and the park spilled over a number of times that season, with standing room crowds reaching over 41,000.

Billingham can't resist analyzing why the Cubs with a much better team position for position couldn't prevail in second games over a mediocre Detroit team. Cub fans just love analyzing defeat. Five reasons: Here we go. And no fans on the stand stealing foul balls.

First, Cubs forgot about the long ball, a useful weapon all season, two. Detroit's erratic pitcher, Dizzy Trout, suddenly found the strike zone; three, Detroit benefited most from last season military returnees, including slugger Hank Greenberg; four and five, bad luck (where have we heard that before?) and bad timing. Ace pitcher Claude Passeau injured his hand and was sidelined, forcing Grimm to use starters Hank Wyse, Ray Prim and Borowy in relief. Grimm picked a tired starter for the pivotal seventh game.

Edward Burns, Chicago Tribune writer, boiled the Cub demise down to two reasons: Greenberg and left-handed pitcher Hal Newhouser, who performed brilliantly for an otherwise so-so team. Burns simply said the Cubs failed to answer the two Tiger stars. End of the last Chicago Cub World Series.

Steeped with trivia, Billington has provided a readable and valuable addition to Cub books and Cub lore. The author pays tribute to the most loyal fan following of any team in athletic history. He doesn't make any predictions about the future, though.

AROUND THE COUNTY

Stem cell discussion

The Council of Catholic Nurses of Lake County will have a program: "Stem Cell and Cloning Research and the Ethical Significance," on Sept. 10, at St. Gilbert Catholic Church, 301 E. A LOOK BACK

Lake County history from the Lakeland Archives

Eddie Lane of Round Lake Park, with a little support from mom Cathy, captured the prize for overall winner in a baby contest held as part of the 1980 Round Lake Area Fest activities.

30 YEARS AGO • 1975

The Lake Villa Township Board was seeking bids for a new 3,200-square-foot township hall to be located at the corner of Fairfield Road and Grand Avenue on township park property. Township Clerk Fred Popp said the one-story building would have a rough cedar exterior, "that will fall in line with the design of the park."

Financing of the project, which was expected to be in the neighborhood of $80,000 would be done with money obtained from the sale of present township office and revenue-sharing funds.

The new township hall was expected to provide offices for the clerk, supervisor, road commissioner and assessor. Also included in the plans were storage space, a meeting room and a lobby area.

25 YEARS AGO • 1980

Following the action of the Third Lake

Village Board, another year of no municipal taxes for residents of the village was approved.

Board members turned down the suggestion of establishing a utility tax within the village as well. According to then-Mayor Ed Sutter, "We'll go another year with no taxes and see what happens."

The low taxes was expected to be one of the selling points for the Mariner's Cove residential development.

15 YEARS AGO • 1990

Following a three-year study in Chicago, Lake County law enforcement officials announced a program to voluntarily drug test arrestees.

The effort was thanks to a grant from the U.S. Department of Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (DASA).

U.S. States Atty. for Northern Illinois Fred Foreman and Lake County States Atty. Mile Waller joined DASA and Illinois Treatment Alternatives for Special Clients (TASC, Inc.) in explaining the strategy at a press conference.

Corrections official earns ranking

Patrick Firman, the chief of corrections for the Lake County Sheriff's Adult Correctional Division, earned his Certified Corrections Executive (CCE) designation from the Commission on Correctional Certification. Firman is the first individual in the state to earn this certification.

Prior to certification, applicants qualify on the basis of their experience and accomplishments in the field of corrections. Then, they must successfully complete a comprehensive examination that tests their knowledge as a corrections executive.

The CCE designation is an indication of demonstrated professionalism involving such activities as leadership, managing change and human resources, and expertise in the operational oversight of a corrections entity. The program is designed to advance the overall knowledge level of practitioners in the corrections field, helping to ensure that they are aware of the most current and innovative approaches. It promotes the capabilities of correctional professionals to the general public and enhances society's image of correctional personnel.

Ten brothers of the Stanczak family, who formed an entire baseball team, will be inducted into the Waukegan Lions Club Sports Hall of Fame next week.

HONORS

The banquet is open to the general public and will be at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth on Sept. 15.

Chicago Tribune sports editor Bill Adey will deliver the keynote address. The program will begin with a reception at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets are $50 per person or $360 for a table of eight.

For tickets, call the CLC Foundation at 847-543-2488.

In addition to honoring Adey, the banquet will recognize inductees into the Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame and the Waukegan Lions Club Sports Hall of Fame for 2005.

Lake County High Schools Sports Hall of Fame inductees for 2005 are: Ashley Henson of Mundelein High School for basketball, softball and volleyball; Sarah Mikrut of Carmel High School for gymnastics; Tom Murrey (posthumous) of Grant High School for football and wrestling; Alicia Ratay of Lake Zurich High School for basketball; Max Sanders of Libertyville High School for basketball; Bill Swanson of the Northern Officials Association, a referee; and Pete Weber of Stevenson High School for athletic administration and swimming.

The Waukegan Lions Club Sports Hall of Fame inductees for 2005 are Dave Erdal for cross country and track, Dean Erdal for cross country and track, Scott Murphy for baseball, Ed Shultis for the service award and the Stanczak Brothers (posthumous) for baseball.

Keith Ryan Scholarship

The Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund bears the name of a courageous sportscaster and gentleman who spent nearly a quarter century promoting local sports in Lake County.

Ryan's career in broadcasting began at age 16 when he was hired by his brother-in-law for a non-paying job as a night disc jockey at WBUT in Butler, Pa., before eventually winding up at WKRS-1220 AM in Waukegan in 1964.

On Feb. 23, 1989, Ryan lost a 15-month bout with cancer, but his legacy and reputation will long be remembered. On April 29, 1989, Keith was inducted posthumously into the Illinois Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame at Illinois State University.

In May of 1988, the inaugural Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports Banquet was held to raise funds for an annual $1,000 scholarship.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

BILL ADEY • Sports Editor, Chicago Tribune

An opportunity for a career in sports journalism presented itself for Bill Adey when his family moved into the lone house next to the News Sun building in Waukegan. Sold on his ability to get to work within 90 seconds, the sports editor hired Adey while he was a senior at Waukegan East.

Adey's professional background includes serving as a sports writer for the News Sun and Daily Herald, locally, and on the copy desk of the Virginia-Pilot in Norfolk. Also, he has worked for the Akron Beacon Journal and the Los Angeles Daily News. Adey joined the Chicago Sun-Times in 1988 and became sports editor there in 1993, a position he held for nearly 10 years. Realizing that sports editors last about as long as most Cubs managers, he walked across the street to the Chicago Tribune in 2002 to do the exact same job.

Now 40, Bill loves doing the same thing he did when was 14 - watching about 140 Cubs games a year. He and his 5-year-old daughter, Grace (who coincidentally possesses an amazing knowledge of sports), live in downtown Chicago. His parents, Bill and Mary Jane, still reside in Waukegan. Adey has two brothers, Marc and Paul and a sister, Ann.

MEMO

ister's meeting on July 23, 2002.

One passage in the memo said: "It seemed clear that Bush had made up his mind to take military action, even if the timing was not yet decided. But the case was thin. Saddam was not threatening his neighbors, and his WMD capability was less than that of Libya, North Korea or Iran. We should work up a plan for an ultimatum to Saddam to allow back in the UN weapons inspectors. This would also help with the legal justification for the use of force."

HR375 calls for the White House and the State Department to "transmit all information relating to communications with officials of the United Kingdom between January 1, 2002 and October 16, 2002 relating to the policy of the United States with respect to Iraq."

The resolution, which now has 60 co-sponsors, must be voted on in committee within 14 legislative days of introduction. The House Internal Relations Committee will be required to take it up by Sept. 16.

Across the country, grassroots groups are urging their congressional representatives to co-sponsor the resolution to bolster its chances of passage.

In a follow-up phone interview, Bean said she believed it was unlikely the resolution would be called to the floor, as it was lacking widespread bi-partisan support. She said she felt the scope of the resolution was "too broad as written."

"If it gets through committee, I will back it," she said.

Bean said she only had co-sponsored certain pieces of legislation.

"You tend to focus on your own committees," she said. Bean serves on the House Financial Services Committee, including the Subcommittee on Capital Markets, Insurance and Government Sponsored Enterprises and the Subcommittee on Domestic and International Monetary Policy, Trade and Technology. She also serves on the House Committee on Small Business, where she is a member of the Subcommittee on Workforce, Empowerment, and Government Programs; and the Subcommittee on Tax, Finance, and Exports.

She noted that 100 bills had already been voted on, and about 3,000 were pending.

Information about HR375 and the text of the British memos are widely available on the Internet.

Bean's staff said there will be another two town hall meetings this year. The next, not yet scheduled, will be sometime in September, in the southern part of the district.

West Nile claims 2nd county victim; caution urged

The Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center has confirmed that an 85-year-old southeastern Lake County man has died from West Nile disease.

Reports say the man was hospitalized with confirmed West Nile neuroinvasive disease on Aug. 26. He later died on Sept. 5. This is the second reported human case of the virus in Lake County this year and the first local West Nile virus fatality in 2005. The only other fatality in this county was in 2002.

West Nile virus is transmitted through the bite of a mosquito that has picked up the virus by feeding on an infected bird.

First case of year

Galassie reported that a central Lake County resident, a 64-year-old woman, contracted West Nile virus fever on Aug. 18.

After thorough lab testing, the Illinois Department of Public Health reported this case to Lake County on Aug. 31. The resident was hospitalized and is recovering.

In addition to the human case, 12 dead birds and 97 pools of mosquitoes have tested positive for West Nile virus in Lake County this year. The Health Department is continuing to urge people to take precautions against mosquito bites.

Remodeling budget tips

Developing a budget for a remodeling project does not need to be nerve-racking. The National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) suggests:

Determine what you can afford

Although not many homeowners enjoy establishing a remodeling budget—many simply don't. Letting a remodeling contractor create the budget is not the best way to begin.

Keep a reserve

Once the budget is set, decrease that amount by 10-20%. This reserve should be set aside to cover any change orders or incidental charges accrued along the way.

Say no to unnecessary change orders

It is easy to say, "A little more on this fixture doesn't matter. It's very little money." But, that attitude makes it easy to exceed the budget.

While remodeling projects rarely proceed without a single change order, sticking to the original plans will minimize them. Change orders are written documents that detail alterations in the contract/project. They originate when the homeowners change their minds about designs or specific products, damage is found (e.g., termites) or a code violation is uncovered that affects the project. Don't be afraid to remind the contractor of the budgetary parameters.

While you're at it

A phrase like "while you are ___, could you just ___" can annihilate a budget. Work not specified in the contract will have an additional cost attached to it.

Financing

Various financing plans are available for remodeling, including the popular home equity loan. The lender may require approval of a contractor, but proceed with caution—that does not guarantee the contractor's work.

To find a local contractor, visit NARI's Web site at www.RemodelToday.com, or call 1-800-611-NARI and request a free copy of "How to Select a Remodeling Professional" or go to the Web site for more information.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Dear Dr. Singer,

We have gone to great lengths to deal with our children's behavior. We have read everything and also seen professionals and have really gotten nowhere on this. My main question involves natural consequences. We have heard this and read about this over and over again and have tried to use it, but have really found ourselves very limited with this. Are we just missing the boat or do you believe natural consequences work? Sign us—Pooped Parents in Palatine.

Hi Pooped,

For the last couple decades or so, there has been a lot of advice given about natural consequences or logical consequences. These are consequences that apply logically or naturally to the situation. For example, the logical or natural consequence of breaking your toy is that you don't get to play with that toy anymore. Many people believe these to be the only consequences that work. I disagree wholeheartedly based on the fact that natural consequences are not always effective and cannot always be waited for or risked. For example, the natural consequence of running in the street is getting hit by a car. Now, anyone in his or her right mind knows that this is ridiculous. No parent is going to risk their child getting hit by a car for the purpose of learning not to run in the street. What about the child who wants to touch the hot stove? Are we going to let the child do this, based on the fact that it's a natural consequence to get burned, when we touch a hot stove? Of course not! Any responsible parent will try very hard not to have their child do this, or even come close. Let's look at one that isn't so crisis oriented. What about the child who is always late in the morning. This is the child who won't get out of bed when you ask. You need to be at work at a certain time and every morning is the same battle. You yell, you scream, you rant, you rave and still the child resists. Now, what is the natural consequence for this? If you went by the letter of natural consequences, it would be that the child would have to get him or herself to school or miss school. There are several problems with this. First, most kids I know would relish the thought of a parent leaving without them. In their minds, they can stay home and watch their favorite shows. Who needs school anyway? Right? The other problem with this is a safety issue. If you leave your child to walk to school alone, it can be a safety problem. I know many parents who battle with their children to get going because they do not want the child walking alone. In this situation, the natural consequences do not seem to work. The only one who seems to be getting the consequence is the parent.

So, once you've thought about the natural consequence to a behavior and cannot find one that fits in a safe and consistent way, what are you left with? Many people out there will tell you that it's not "natural consequences" there will be no learning for the child. Again, I say, "hogwash!" Consequences, whether logical, natural or not, work if you use them appropriately, consistently and you mean business! My feeling is that there are several things that make consequences work. First, you have to know what is meaningful to the child. This is the most natural and logical thing I can think of, when it comes to consequences. What is going to effect this child? What means something to him or her? If it means something, it will get through! Second, consequences need to be appropriate. They need to make sense. They need to not be violent. Beating on your child teaches nothing but violence. Teaching them that bad decisions lose things that are meaningful to them, makes sense. This is something that they need to learn for later in life too. All of us live in an adult world where good decisions are rewarded and bad ones are punished. Additionally, many times as adults we lose things when we aren't responsible. Right?

Be careful about only withdrawing privileges though. Most kids have something else to play with when something gets taken away. If this is the case, that child is feeling no punishment and behavior will not change. I can't go into specific punishments in the scope of a column because one size does not fit all, but rest assured, I haven't met the kid I can't turn yet. Powerful consequences do the trick, trust me on that!

With our example of our child who won't get up on time, who is it that's feeling the consequence? The parent is the person who is feeling the brunt of the consequence. The parent gets bent out of shape and has to be late to work. This is the only natural consequence that comes out of this situation. The child feels nothing from this situation, except power. Our children need to be ready for the real world and if they don't learn it at home, where are they going to learn it?

So, when natural or logical consequences don't fit, make sure you use some appropriate consequence. If you're not sure of what works, ask your child. Children tell me what works with them, more than any other source. Ask them what they own that they like. You can also ask what activities they like the best.

Dr. Sherri Singer is a Licensed Clinical Psychologist and Childhood Behavior Specialist. She regularly works in person with many readers of this column, helping them to significantly improve their kid's behavior, attention and processing skills. Dr. Singer's system has promoted very fast behavior and attention change both at home and school. For an appointment, please call (847) 231-5644 or (708) 962-2549.

After the National Hockey League's season-long lockout, the national media said that interest in the sport was at an all-time low, and might never recover.

They've obviously never been to a youth hockey game. If the Lake County Atoms' participation figures are any indication, hockey is not only alive and well, but has continued to rise, even as the NHL's attendance and ratings continue to dwindle.

"We're (Illinois) not at the level of a Minnesota or New York, but this is a pretty good hotbed of hockey," said Keith Rutkowski, who's entering his eighth year as president of the Atoms. "The hockey community is pretty tight-knit, and we like to look at the Atoms as a family that is part of that bigger community."

Last year, Lakeland Newspapers reported the growth of high school hockey in Lake County, but even those numbers pale in comparison to those of the Atoms. Several hundred kids turned out for a four-day tryout at the Atoms' home, RinkSide Sports in Gurnee. Rutkowski expects about 150 kids to play on the Atoms' 11 teams, with ages ranging from 6 (Mites) to 18 (Midget Majors). Other levels include Midget Minors, Squirt, PeeWee and Bantam.

And most of those 150 faces have been around for several years as they continue to move up the ranks. Players like Tim Martin, a Warren High sophomore and Midget Minor player who's about to enter his eighth season with the Atoms, help form the backbone of the organization.

"My dad got me going with hockey, and it's really paid off," said Martin, 15. "You can learn how to play football or baseball, but you're born to play hockey. I'm in the best shape of my life and I've made a lot of friends."

Chase Grendys, also a Warren sophomore, began his career with the Atoms six years ago, but then moved to the Deerfield Falcons. However, he soon made his way back to the Atoms.

"My coach from the Falcons was coming here, so I came back to the Atoms," Grendys said. "It's been great. I've met a lot of new people and I'm having fun."

That, more than any individual or team success, is perhaps the Atoms' biggest mission, according to Rutkowski.

"We're a lot more than hockey here," Rutkowski said. "We're not only teaching these kids how to play, but we're teaching them character, and we want them to have fun."

"And that's all built into the way the coaching staff handles the players. We're taking those lessons learned on the ice and turning them into life lessons."

Two years ago, Rutkowski and his wife, Joanne, helped found the M.K. Award in memory of former player Marshall Khayat, who died in a motorcycle accident in June 2003 just two months shy of his 16th birthday. Each of the last two winners has received a $1,000 college scholarship.

"The award has very little to do with hockey," Rutkowski said. "We look at players who are involved in humanitarian activities, even though they're only 16, 17 or 18. It's for people who make a difference, because Marshall would have."

The team also created the AAA (All-Around Atom) award, given to the player at each age level who best exemplifies the qualities of attitude, enthusiasm, integrity, leadership, participation, promptness, self-motivation, sportsmanship and work ethic.

Another of the Atoms' goals is for its players to one day give back to the organization. And that's already begun, starting with Rutkowski's son, Steve, who last played with the Atoms in 2001.

"He's come back and is an

More is not necessarily better

Independence — it's something we all strive for. Whether it's from our caregivers, our bills or even from our own self-doubt, independence was one of the ideals that our great country is based upon. Now, we have an area team that has gained independence by creating a new athletic program at Lakes High School in Lake Villa.

Now, before I risk my column sounding even more book report-esque than usual, I have to offer my position that Lakes High should not have jumped into the sports arena so early. By and large, the rationale behind the new sports program was giving more kids the chance to play.

Well, I'll tell you that the Eagles' football players are playing — they're playing too much. With only 30 or so players filling out the roster, there are numerous athletes who are forced to play both sides of the ball, which is an exhausting job, regardless of the conditioning level. While heat stroke won't be a concern for too much longer, exhausting players on game day should never be the status quo.

This sort of play can also be potentially crippling to a player teetering over the NCAA Division I and II talent line. D-I schools want specialized talents who have the subtle nuances of a position down pat. The point of practice for a college freshman at that level is not to learn a position; rather, it's to acclimate to the heightened speed of the game. If a player is left adjusting to a new position, he's left behind.

While D-I schools do sometimes go for athleticism for athleticism's sake — you'd better be something special, and good players who've played both sides of the ball can often be looked over by recruiters who know what they want. High school athletes should be able to focus on their best position so they can truly excel — not split their time and potentially lose out on valuable assistant coach," Rutkowski said. "We want these players to come back and keep in touch when they're away. That's why we're going to start a contact link on our Web site, to keep track of former players and give them a chance to contact teach other."

With so many off-ice goals, you might think that the Atoms aren't concerned with on-ice success. Far from it, actually. Competing in the Northern Illinois Hockey League and the Central States Development Hockey League, the Atoms have won several league titles in recent seasons.

When Lakeland last reported on the Atoms in 2001, they were still searching for a permanent home after the Oakwood Racquet Club in Waukegan, the team's former home, closed down. Now they're flourishing under their new partnership with RinkSide.

"We're responsible for managing the teams, they're responsible for advertising," Rutkowski said. "Together, we've also helped form a Learn to Skate program and an in-house league so families can have the opportunity to learn to play hockey at all levels, from little kids who can barely skate, to high school kids looking to play in college."

Though the costs for playing travel hockey for a six-month season remain high, the Atoms also offer ways for families to lower that cost.

"It costs anywhere from $1,500 to $2,220 for league play, which runs from Sept. 1 to February or March," Rutkowski said. "And most of that money is for ice time. But families can sell ads for our program to get money off their fees, and if they can sell a sheet of ice to a corporate sponsor, then their kids plays free."

prep practice time.

We also must not forget about the "donor" school either. After putting together a fine 7-4 season together last year, the Antioch football squad has been gutted by the split. While the team is in better shape than Lakes, with 40 players, it's still not enough to fill out a full roster.

Now let's forget about football for a bit because that's not the only program that's at stake. Many of the Eagles' teams will be vastly undermanned and without freshman and sophomore levels, it could take Lakes years to reach respectability in any athletic arena. Antioch's gymnastics program was alive and healthy; now, there are questions as to whether the team will still be in existence. If greater participation is what we're going for, then why is an entire team in jeopardy? I truly hope the Antioch gymnastics program can be saved in time for the season. If not, it will be a huge black eye for the school district.

Of course, there is also the argument that it was going to happen sometime. With two perfectly good high schools in the same village, it was only a matter of time before Lakes finally reached adulthood and broke free from Antioch with its own extra-curricular activities. While that's certainly valid, I just don't think this time was the right time.

Young Mustangs pick up 1st win

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

A team that Mundelein coach George Dressen described as having "unbelievable potential" prior to the season has struggled to turn that potential into much success thus far. But Dressen is convinced a dramatic turnaround is right around the corner.

"Once we get over this little hump, we'll come out like we're on fire," Dressen said.

The Mustangs started out the season with six straight losses, including a 0-5 in last weekend's Early Bird Invite. What's encouraging, though, is the fact that four of Mundelein's five tournament losses were in three games.

"It was a strong tournament and there were no easy matches," he said. "We were in each game, we just lacked the confidence to finish out the match. But our setters are starting to come around, and (Paige) Tortorello, (Emily) T'Niemi and Maggie Schroder are starting to step forward."

In the tournament, T'Niemi had 51 assists and 11 aces, Tortorello 34 assists and 10 aces and Schroeder 21 kills and 38 digs to lead the Mustangs. Kelli Boich (35 blocks, 26 kills) and Heidi Haubrich (23 kills, 19 blocks) also had solid efforts.

"We haven't been able to get all of the aspects of the game going at the same time for an entire match," Dressen said. "When we did have all three things going, we've played well, but we haven't sustained it."

Fortunately, Mundelein may have gotten the boost of confidence it needed to get over the hump with a 25-7, 25-13 win over Lakes High on Tuesday.

GRAYSLAKE

Last season Grayslake managed just seven wins. The year before that, it was only five. Head coach Jeanna Beerbower knew things would turn around this season, but even she didn't think it would be this quickly.

The Rams have already won four matches this season, including a 2-3 showing at last Saturday's Ram Slam. Grayslake defeated DeKalb (27-26, 15-25, 25-17) and North Chicago (25-16, 25-15) to finish fourth in the six-team tournament, as several of the team's losses were close.

"I was real happy with how we played," Beerbower said. "We were in almost every game; we just need to get to the point where mistakes don't get to us. But we've been able to shock some people so far."

Fortunately, the Rams knew immediately what they had to change in order to start pulling out some of those close matches. At the Ram Slam, the team missed 24 serves and had 34 serve reception errors, basically giving the opposition 60 free points.

Jill Smart led Grayslake (4-7) in kills during the tournament with 32. Megan Patterson (17 kills, 6 blocks), Ashleigh Swearingen (19 kills) and Janice Johnson (72 assists) also had solid tournaments.

"Jill leading us in kills is no surprise, but Swearingen was just a powerhouse on Saturday," Beerbower said. "She's always been strong, but she really put it all together this weekend."

LAKES

It's tough for a team with literally no varsity experience to have to take on some of Lake County's best volleyball teams on a regular basis, but that's the prospect the new Lakes High squad is facing this year. Head coach Carla Thompson likened it to a JV team, which the Eagles would be at any other school, having to face varsity competition.

"I'm starting a team with no leadership and no experience," Thompson said. "There's no one the girls can look up to and learn from other than the coaches. And I only have three players with any club experience."

Not surprisingly, two of those players, sophomores Kathy Szczesniak and Katie Thompson, have emerged as two potential mainstays for the Eagles.

"Kathy has been around volleyball her whole life and really knows the game," Thompson said. "She can take a nothing pass and turn it into a decent set. She'll be a premier setter by the time she's a junior or senior."

"Katie is sort of a utility player. She's played the setter position, defensive specialist and even middle blocker at the club level. She's also been around volleyball her whole life."

The team's other leader has junior Kathleen Glive, whom Thompson hopes will become the team's go-to hitter.

Despite only having two matches under their belts, both losses, Thompson has been encouraged by her team's willingness to learn.

"The girls work really hard and want to be better," she said. "When we lost to Jacobs I didn't have to call any timeouts, because the girls knew what adjustments they had to make. We just need to be more aggressive out there, and that's the sort of thing that only comes with experience."

WARREN

It's scary to consider that Warren might be even better than last year's team, which went 29-7, but head coach Julie Filippo thinks that may be the case and said so prior to the season.

Her team has since gone out and backed their coach's claim, winning their first six matches before falling in a tough three-game match to Glenbrook North on Tuesday. The six-match streak included the Devils' second New Trier Tournament title in three years.

Filippo said in an understatement: "We're doing pretty good right now. The girls knew what they had to do and stepped it up."

Warren's attack has been dead-on in the early going, keyed by setter Mallory Ceisel and hitters Sarah Lagerstrom, Jessica Wheeler, Brianna Erickson and Michelle Carlisle.

"Sarah was our 14th or 15th player last year, and she's really proved to be a good out-

'Once we get over this little hump, we'll come out like we're on fire.'

George Dressen
Mundelein girls'
volleyball coach

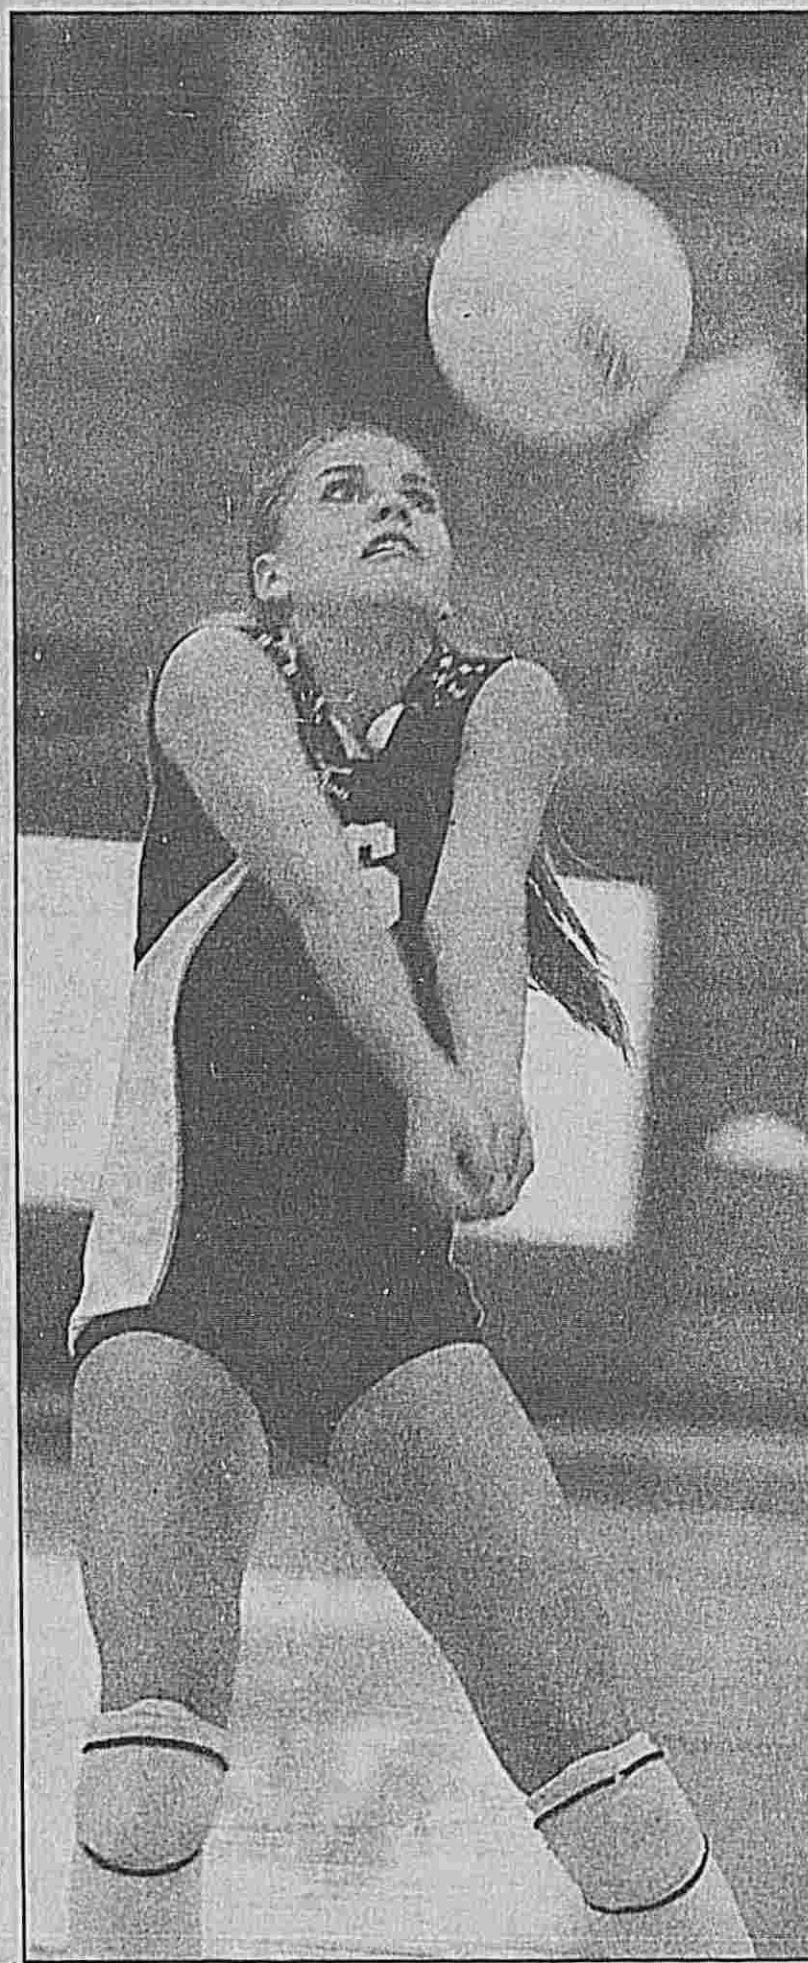

side hitter," Filippo said. "Carlisle and Erickson both shared the net with (Alexandra) Leach last year and they're both key starters now."

At the New Trier Tourney, Ceisel (27 assists, 11 digs, 8 aces), Carlisle (16 kills, 3 aces), Lagerstrom (24 kills, 12 digs, 11 aces), Erickson (12 kills) and Wheeler (23 kills, 4 aces) all came up big. Laura Vielbig's 12 digs and nine kills and Danielle Mruz's 12 digs at the new libero position also helped Warren's cause.

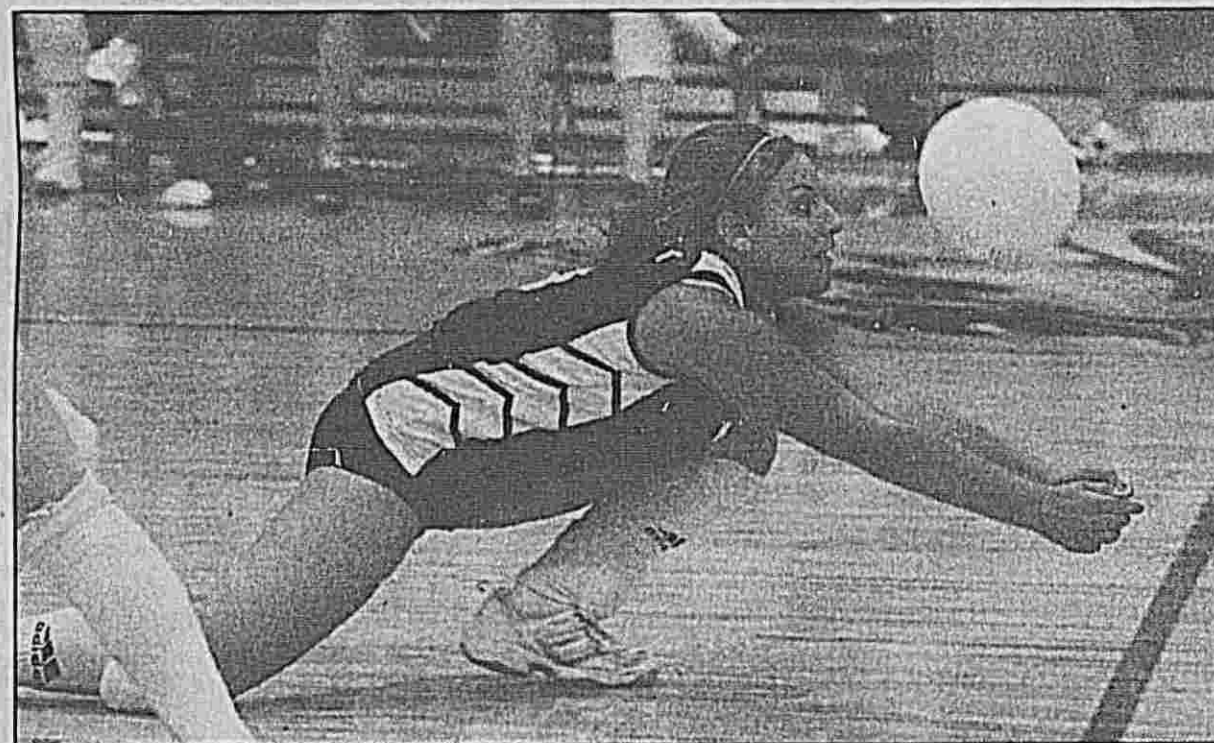

The fact that so many players can contribute to a win has Filippo confident in her team's chances the rest of the way.

"We haven't had any injuries yet, but we have depth and flexibility in our lineup in case we do," Filippo said.

Moses lead Devils to Promised Land

By Rob Backus
Sports Editor

Warren Township High School senior Josh Mose signals an incomplete pass in the final minutes of the Devils' 31-21 win over Maine South on Saturday.
-Photos by Annie Christie

DESIGNED BY ROB DAULT

It was hard not to see the irony dripping from Matt Mose's words as he talked about his team's first victory over Maine South in four tries. Here was a so-called Blue Devil, quoting the bible after a win in which he and his older brother, Josh, both played integral roles.

"They say Moses will lead us to the Promised Land," said the Warren junior, referring to Exodus 3:8. "That's what we're trying to do."

And thanks to Matt's 120 yards and two TDs through the air, and Josh's team-high eight tackles and fumble recovery, the Devils did exactly that, besting Class 8A top seed Maine South, 31-21, in front of a packed house in Park Ridge. It was the Hawks' first regular season loss since the 2002 season opener.

"This was a big win for our program," Warren coach Dave Mohapp said. "We're a young team and hopefully we grew up a little bit today. It was a great amount of improvement over the week before (a 21-14 win over New Trier)."

Down 7-0 after Maine South scored on its opening drive, Matt Mose put the Devils on the board with a 20-yard TD catch from QB Joe DeVries (14-for-17, 265 yards, 3 TDs), who perfectly executed the play-action to get Mose wide open. It was one of Mose's four first-half catches as the Hawks focused on shutting down Division I prospect Marcus Lewis.

"Matt's emergence has been key for us," Mohapp said. "We've never had two receivers of their quality. And it really helps Marcus to have someone on the other side of the formation to take the pressure off of him."

The pressure on Lewis seemed to subside in the second half as the senior broke loose for a 53-yard gain, which set up a 41-yard field goal by Kyle Basarich to give Warren a 10-7 lead with 9:54 left in the third quarter.

Lewis, who finished with 134 yards on four catches, struck again in the fourth. After DeVries floated up a long pass that looked like it would be intercepted, Lewis out-jumped two defenders and went 66 yards for the score.

"He's a pretty good receiver," Mohapp deadpanned.

Matt Mose went a step further, saying: "He's definitely one of the best receivers in the state. And they (Maine South) were so scared of him, I started getting more looks. Then he got some looks and they didn't know who to cover."

Perhaps the most memorable play of the game came on a non-catch as Warren senior Willie Brooks had a sure-fire interception, but it fell through his hands. He then dropped to the ground and started doing push-ups.

"We do push-ups in practice, so we know the next time to catch it," Brooks said.

Brooks hung on to the next one thrown his way, jumping a curl route and racing 54 yards to give Warren a 24-7 lead. Brooks got such a good jump on the ball, you'd think he knew the ball was coming. As it turns out, he did.

"We were reading his (Maine South QB Tyler Knight) signals, so when I saw him take a three-step drop and then saw one of their key receivers, I knew that's where the ball was going," said Brooks, who later added another pick.

'This was a big win for our program. We're a young team and hopefully we grew up a little bit today.'

Dave Mohapp
O Warren coach

Maine South added a score to pull to within 24-14, and went for the onside kick, which Josh Mose recovered. That led to Matt's second TD catch, this time from 40 yards out.

Lost in the victory was the fact that although Warren was out-gained 443-329 and star back Mitchell Moore managed just 45 yards on 14 carries, the Devils still won convincingly.

"It's nice to have some balance (on offense)," Mohapp said. "When they bring in nine guys to stop Mitchell, it puts them one-on-one on two very good receivers. And they're going to get open and make catches."

While the win may not yet measure up to the Devils reaching the Class 8A quarterfinals in 2002, it was still a monumental victory for the program.

"This was huge," Brooks said. "They were highly ranked and that gave us motivation to show we had a better team. We have a whole team of good players and we all came together. Now we need to keep it going."

Huntley 33, Grayslake 26

While giving itself over to the occasional star-driven win, football remains a team sport. And Grayslake is finding that out the hard way, according to head coach Mike Munda.

"We had a lot of good individual things happen, and that's a bad thing," Munda said after his team's 33-26 loss to Huntley last Friday. "We need the team to have good things happen. We have some good players, but one or two good players aren't going to take you where you need to go. The guys are finding that out."

The Rams are also finding out that their immaturity, which showed in the form of several unsportsmanlike conduct penalties against Huntley, will not only cost them chances to win, but may lead to a reputation as a dirty team, Munda said.

"We need to do a lot of growing up," he said. "The coaching staff will do a lot better job of addressing that in practice this week. We're young and we keep making silly mistakes, but that's going to happen when you have 36 juniors."

As frustrated as Munda was with his team's uneven play, he still took time to point out the positives in the loss, namely the efforts of Eddie Hodges, Brett Miller, Chris Westfall, Mike Martin, and especially Curran Allenstein and Kevin Chesney.

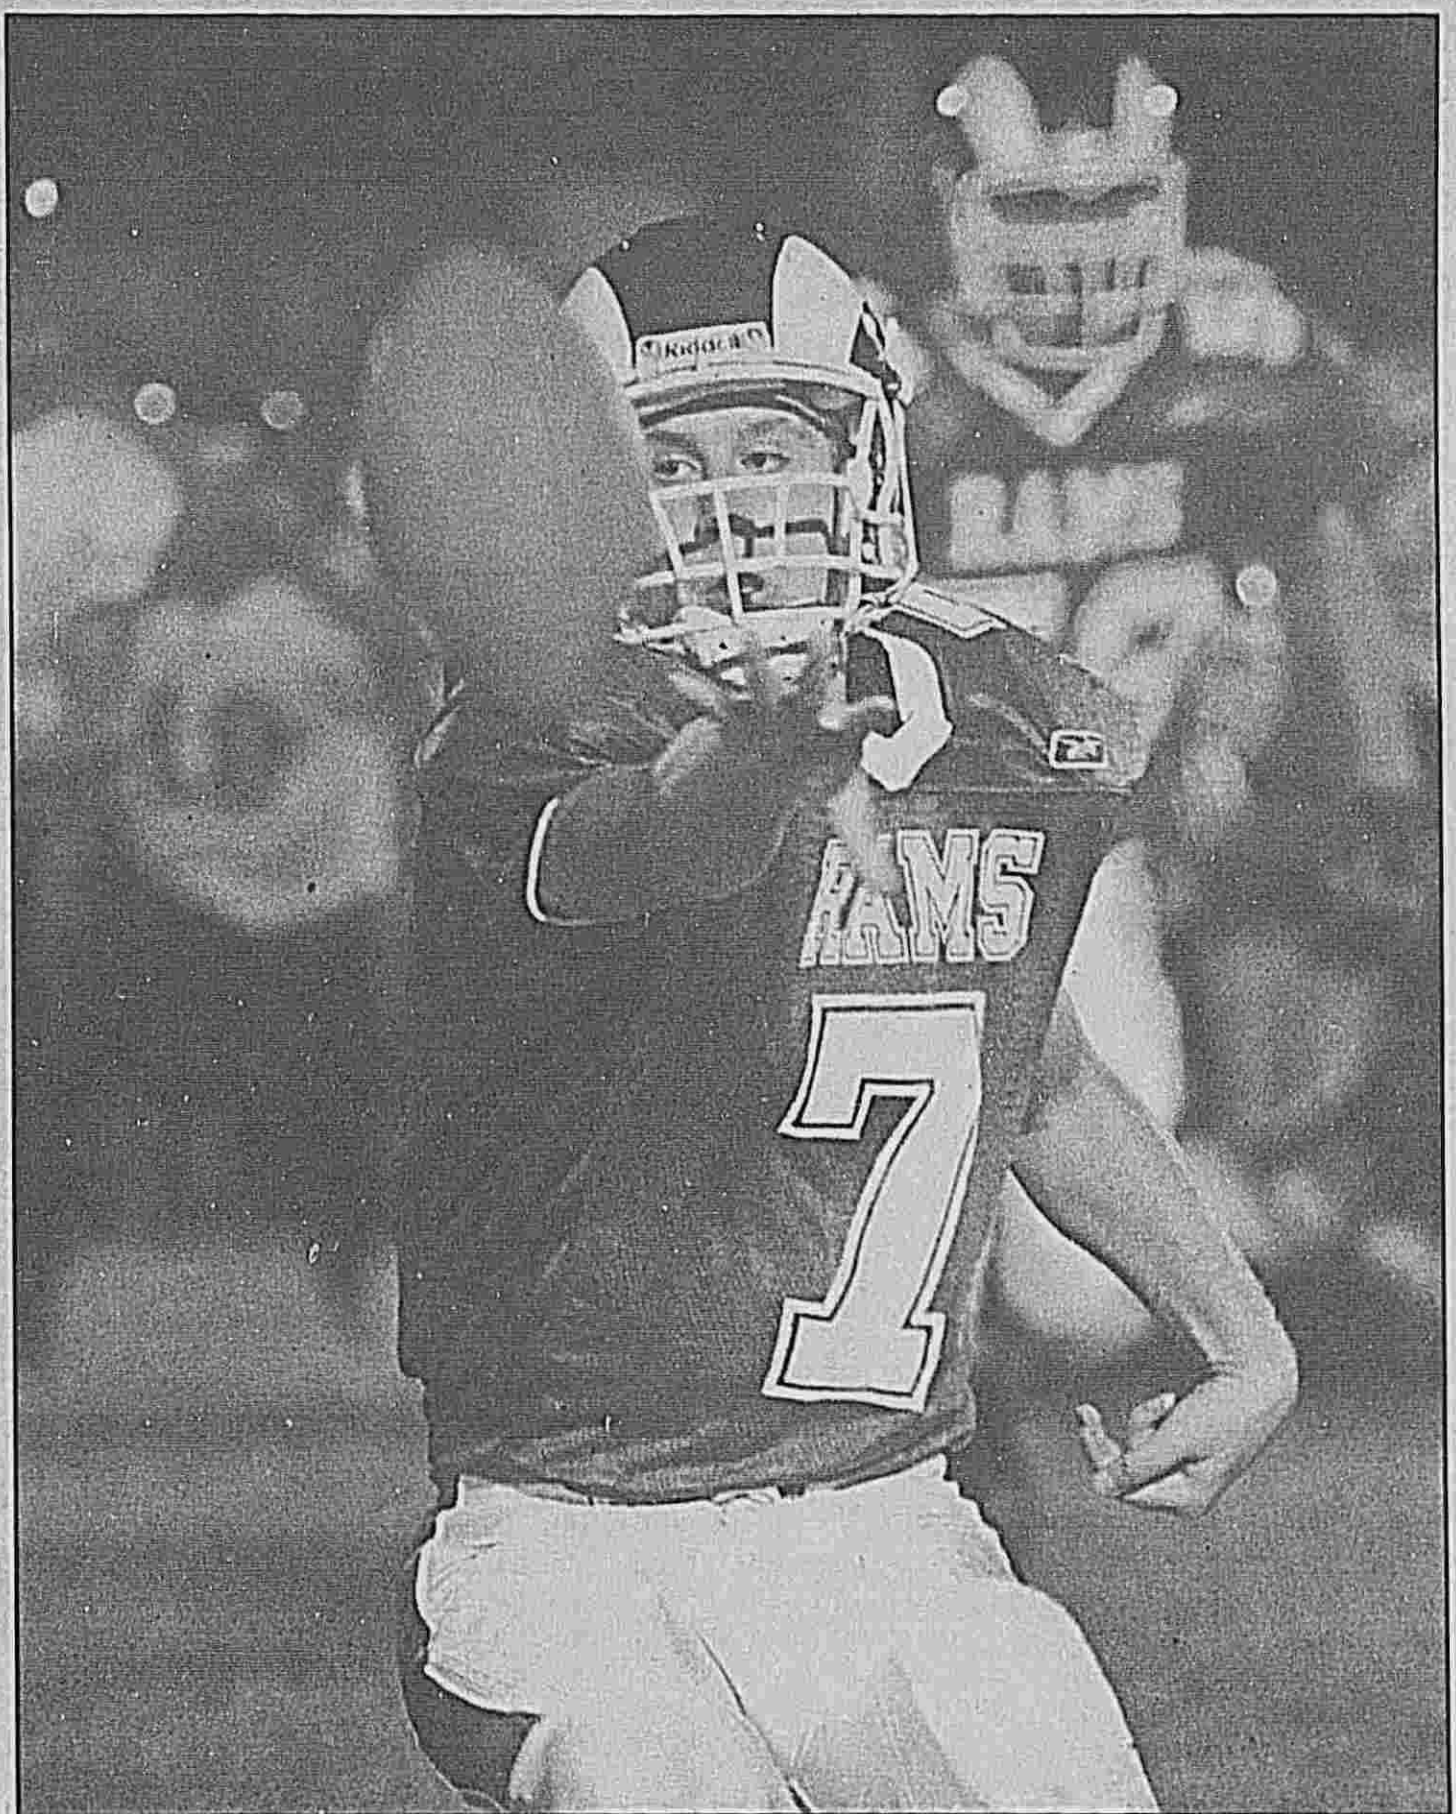

"Curran is as tough as a rusty nail; I love that kid," Munda said. "And Chesney is capable of doing anything."

Against Huntley, Chesney's interceptions were able to slow down the efforts of QB Quinn Kalamatis, who managed to throw for more than 300 yards. Chesney also had an 84-yard kickoff return for a score. Allenstein added Grayslake's other special teams score with a kickoff return in the first quarter.

Despite the loss, which dropped the Rams to 0-2 on the season, Munda remains convinced that his team is close to turning things around.

"We played well for a half, and you can't do that in the Fox Valley (Conference)," he said. "But when this team starts pulling in the same direction for an entire game, we'll make some noise."

Round Lake 24, Maine East 7

Less than 24 hours before Warren gave Maine South its first regular season loss since 2002, Round Lake took care of Park Ridge's other team, 24-7, in front of a packed house hungry for the Panthers' first victory. It was Round Lake's first win under new head coach Doug Moss.

"It feels great," Moss said of the win. "The kids played really well and we managed to hang on to the ball and put some drives together."

Though the Panthers did commit four fumbles, they only lost one, and forced three of their own to win the turnover battle.

"Our defense did pretty well,"

Moss said. "We stuck it to them pretty good."

Maine East took an early 7-0 lead, but Round Lake answered back with a three-yard score from Anthony Whiteside, a 22-yard field goal from Eric Watts and a 28-yard strike from QB Mike Ortiz to Isaiah Gardener.

Perhaps the biggest difference in the game was the return of senior halfback James Nowell from an ankle sprain. He led Round Lake with 151 yards on 17 carries. Tim Smith also fared well at fullback, chipping in with 148 yards on 21 carries, and a nine-yard insurance touchdown in the fourth quarter.

"He's not at 100 percent yet, but he's close," Moss said of Nowell.

Grant 28, Bay View (Wis.) 16

With only four yards separating the offensive outputs of Grant and Bay View (Wis.) last Friday, something else had to be the determining factor.

That something else was the Grant defense as the Bulldogs snared four interceptions in a 28-16 win. The home Bulldogs did not blink after a brief two-point deficit, adding two more touchdowns for their first win.

Grant had 119 yards rushing and 99 passing on a 6-of-10 effort from Rick Howell. Jon Schild had two of the four interceptions from his linebacker spot. Joey Claver and Joel Montemayor had the other two picks.

"We knew we would come back. We just came out and stepped it up again," Howell said of the two-point deficit. "And Jon ran like crazy."

Schild contributed 99 yards on 24 carries. The Bulldogs did not have to face the likes of Johnsburg QB Trevor Bupp this week, and the defensive line was able to apply some pressure.

The 1-1 Grant squad is readying to face Antioch in the NSC Prairie Division opener on Sept. 9. The game will mark Antioch's first as a member of the Prairie Division.

Head coach Mark Barczak said he was pleased with the overall effort. "We had our worst practice of the season on Tuesday, but had good efforts Wednesday and Thursday. The best thing is that they're all good friends. There's a lot of camaraderie," he said.

Grant came out after Schild's first pick, intent on taking the lead. Howell found Montemayor open for a 25-yard TD strike, for a 7-0 margin. Howell scored the first of his two TD runs in the first quarter for a 14-0 lead.

Grant found itself in a close game by the second half, as the Milwaukee school had a 57-yard TD run and another from 15 yards out on a fumble recovery just before halftime. After two two-point conversions the Bulldogs trailed 16-14.

Grant's Howell then plunged in from two yards out, following Schild's second interception, as the Bulldogs retook the lead.

Montemayor's pick led to a 50-yard drive that gave the Bulldogs an insurance tally, as Claver scored from 13 yards out.

AREA ROUND UP

Antioch 18, Johnsburg 12

Though vaunted Johnsburg QB Trevor Bupp managed to put up 358 passing yards on Antioch, the defense held when it mattered in an 18-12 win over the Skyhawks.

With Johnsburg driving for the go-ahead score late in the game, Brad Fortney picked off a pass in the red zone to seal the win. It was one of three Bupp picks in the contest. Fortney also had a five-yard TD catch from Bryan Vos.

Tom Sulton (140 yards, 2 TDs) also had a big game for the Sequoits (1-1).

Carmel 49, St. Joseph 0

Score early, score often was the theme last Saturday as Carmel racked up 42 first-half points in a 49-0 thumping of ESCC foe St. Joseph.

Carmel QB John Brennan had three touchdown passes, including two to Sean McGrath, while Jimmy Potempa rushed for three scores as the Corsairs (2-0) rolled off more than 300 yards of total offense in the first two quarters.

Niles North 35, Lakes 14

Lakes did manage its first touchdown in school history, but its first win remained elusive, as Niles North won 35-14 in the Eagles' home opener last Friday.

Down 8-0 in the second quarter, Lakes junior Sean Hertz added his name to the school's record books on a 45-yard TD pass from QB Richard Fisher. He later added a 28-yard score to give the Eagles a 15-14 deficit heading into the locker room. However, the Warriors rolled off 20 straight points to put the game out of reach.

Naperville North 42, Libertyville 21

Libertyville had its 15-game winning streak rudely snapped with a 42-21 loss at Naperville North last Friday. Libertyville QB Cameron Turner had three touchdown passes, one each to Josh Albers, Mike Culbertson-Fehling and Ryan Kennedy, but also threw two picks and completed just 13 of 35 passes; while a porous Cats defense surrendered 28 first-half points.

Maine West 30, Mundelein 29 (OT)

Nearly one year to the day after Mundelein defeated Maine West in a 42-41 nail-biter, the Warriors returned the favor in a 30-29 overtime win over the Mustangs (1-1).

Backs Wade Leppert and Cody Gokan combined for 200 yards on the ground and all four Mundelein touchdowns.

Wauconda 18, Marengo 0

Last Friday proved to be a night of firsts for Wauconda.

It was not only the Bulldogs' first win over Marengo since 2002, but their first shutout since a 52-0 victory over Orr in 2000 — and it gave head coach Glen Kozlowski a chance to walk off his home field victorious for the first time.

But after the 18-0 triumph over the Indians, all Kozlowski could do was talk about his players.

"It feels good, but I'm happy for my kids more than anything," Kozlowski said. "As a coach, I just wanted to see them have some success because they work so hard."

Several minutes after the game, long after most fans would have headed for the parking lot, the Wauconda faithful stayed behind to cheer on their Bulldogs.

"I told the kids to look around because everyone was waiting to celebrate," Kozlowski said. "That's what you play the game for."

Although Kris Gehrke keyed the offense with 134 receiving yards, including a nifty 66-yard TD catch from QB Mike Greenwell, the defense was the story of the game, according to Kozlowski.

"Harvard took it to us last week and the defense took it personally," Kozlowski said. "A lot of kids made some great plays."

Senior Cole Munson led the Bulldogs with 12 tackles along with Robert Champion, who also had a sack and two fumble recoveries. Gehrke added a pair of interceptions.

But Kozlowski isn't satisfied with just one win, and he hopes his players aren't either.

"I always felt like we could win if we changed a few things, but now we can't be happy with just one game," he said. "The pressure's off us now, so now we just need to focus on being a better football team."

Corsairs battling through adversity

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

Spur-of-the-moment coaching changes are something most professional, and even many college teams have to face at one time or another. But for high schools, it almost never happens.

Whenever there's a changing of the guard on a prep squad, the new coach has several months to get to know his players and to formulate a plan for the upcoming season. However, new Carmel soccer coach John Halloran didn't have that luxury.

After former coach Chris Rudolph unexpectedly stepped down just days prior to the team's first match, Halloran had to step right in and lead a team that was expected to not only compete for a title in the tough East Suburban Catholic Conference, but to make a deep postseason run as well.

That type of last-minute change could have doomed the Corsairs from the start, but the team has managed to stay afloat and sits at 3-3-1 after the season's first two weeks.

"Given the start we had, I think the season has gone very well so far," said Halloran, who has served as the school's girls soccer coach the last two seasons. "I give a lot of the credit to our two senior captains, Kevin Virgilio and Kevin Cook. They've really helped with the transition and they're two of the biggest reasons I took the job."

Fortunately for Halloran and the Corsairs, he already knew several of the players from teaching them at soccer camps and in the classroom.

"I had a pretty good foundation," Halloran said. "There are only a few players that I didn't know."

Like most teams trying to find its way, Carmel's season has already had numerous ups and downs. The team won its first two matches, lost its next three and has since gone unbeaten. In between, Halloran decided to make several changes to his team's defensive unit.

"We put Virgilio and John Riggio in the back because I have total confidence in their abilities and they're good leaders," Halloran said. "That helped shore up our defense. And Joe Holgiun has done a great job in goal. He's really come on like a monster the last few games."

Halloran said that the offense, led by Cook, has also started to come around.

"Kevin (Cook) makes things happen for us," Halloran said. "We just need someone to start putting the ball away up top. We're kind of scoring by committee right now."

Despite the uncertainty that has remained with the team in the early going, Halloran is convinced of one thing.

"Once we start firing on all cylinders, we'll be a pretty good team," Halloran said.

ANTIOCH

The outstanding play of senior goalkeeper Alex Mayer, as well as the defense in front of him, has helped contribute to Antioch's 2-0-2 start. Mayer has allowed just two goals in those four matches.

"Alex has stepped up and has really provided some leadership," Antioch coach Charlie Trout said. "And we've been seeing some very positive things from the defense."

With just one defensive starter back from last year's team, senior Wes Laudenslager, Trout has been able to effectively run a backfield-by-committee that includes Laudenslager, Andrew Wade, Joe Barlow, Luke Holm and Ryan White.

It's the Sequoits' offense, or lack thereof, that leaves Trout wanting more.

"We've had some good looks and some good runs from the back," Trout said, "but we're just a half-inch away from scoring a lot of the time. Some of that's due to luck, but we need to get the kids to be able to calm themselves in pressure scoring situations. It will take some time and work."

Trout also knows that the offense will eventually come around.

"Everything we're doing wrong right now is correctable," he said. "Early in the year, the engine isn't going to run on all cylinders. We're trying to work on the timing."

Antioch will face a huge test this weekend when it travels west to compete in the Rockford Boylan Tournament. There, the Sequoits will face three tough teams in Boylan, Jacobs and Cary-Grove.

"We have the ability to win it all, but we have to be able to put three great matches together," Trout said.

GRANT

Grant fell to 1-3-0 on the season after a pair of 1-0 losses to Lake Forest Academy and Harvard on Saturday, as the team's Invitational came to a close.

GRAYSLAKE

Grayslake closed out the Glenbrook South Tournament in style with an 8-2 non-conference win over Mather on Saturday. Manny Carillo had two goals and two assists and Milan Stupar and Tony Gianneschi each had a goal and an assist to lead the Rams.

Ryan O'Connor, Glen Shormag, Andy Schultz, Steve Anderson, Neil Naolhu, Collin Hutchins and Nolan Sandberg all entered marks in the scoring sheet for Grayslake (2-3-1). Tommy Marsden and Tommy Biesaida shared the win in goal.

WARREN

Warren coach Jim McNamara has achieved a lot in his previous three years at the school. In his first year, the Devils won a near-school record 13 matches then shattered the record with 17 wins and the school's first Elite Eight berth in 2003. Last year, Warren topped the 20-win mark and came into this season poised for greatness.

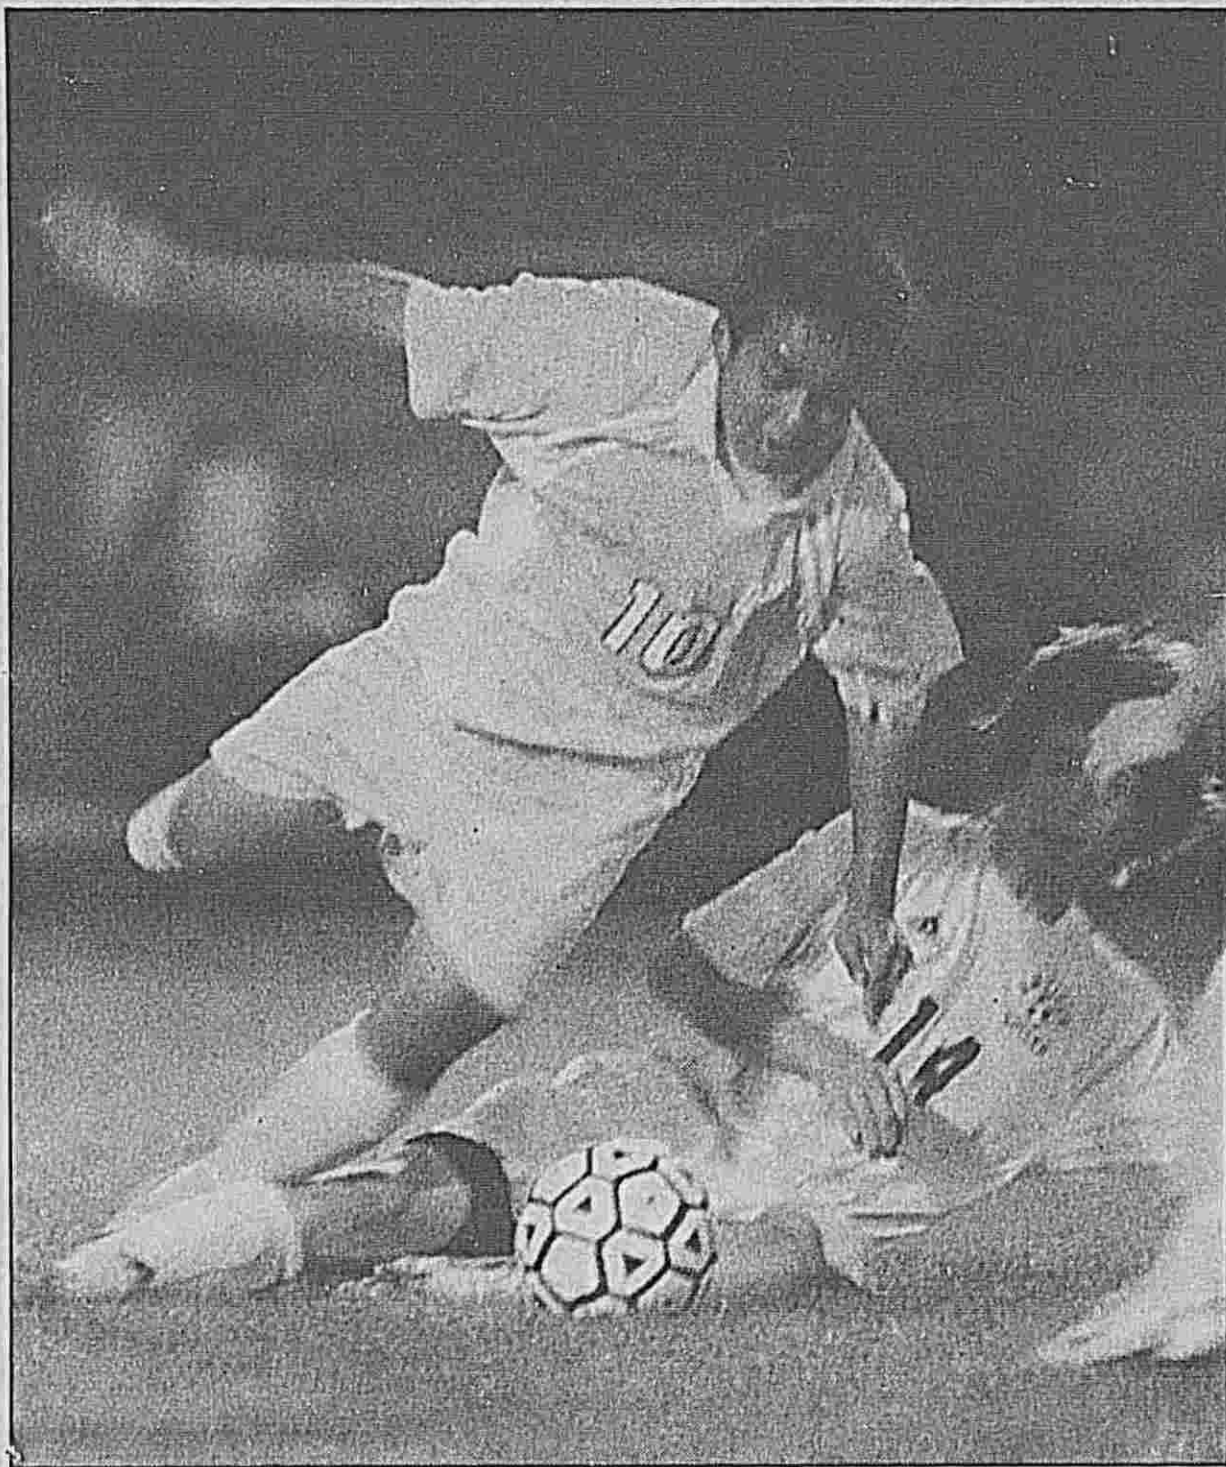

The team has lived up to those expectations thus far, and has set another school record with a 5-0 start, including its second straight New Trier Tournament title last Saturday. In their five matches, the Devils have yet to allow a goal, while racking up 13 of their own.

"I wasn't sure how things would play out early, but things have gone extremely well," McNamara said. "We have so much team cohesiveness right now. The kids are stepping up and filling roles. Things are really falling into place."

Ian Sarachen and Anthony Colaizzi have helped lead the offense, while keeper Garrett Koncan and backs Art Arizmendi, Dominick Pelletiere and Taylor Holop have combined for the flawless start on defense.

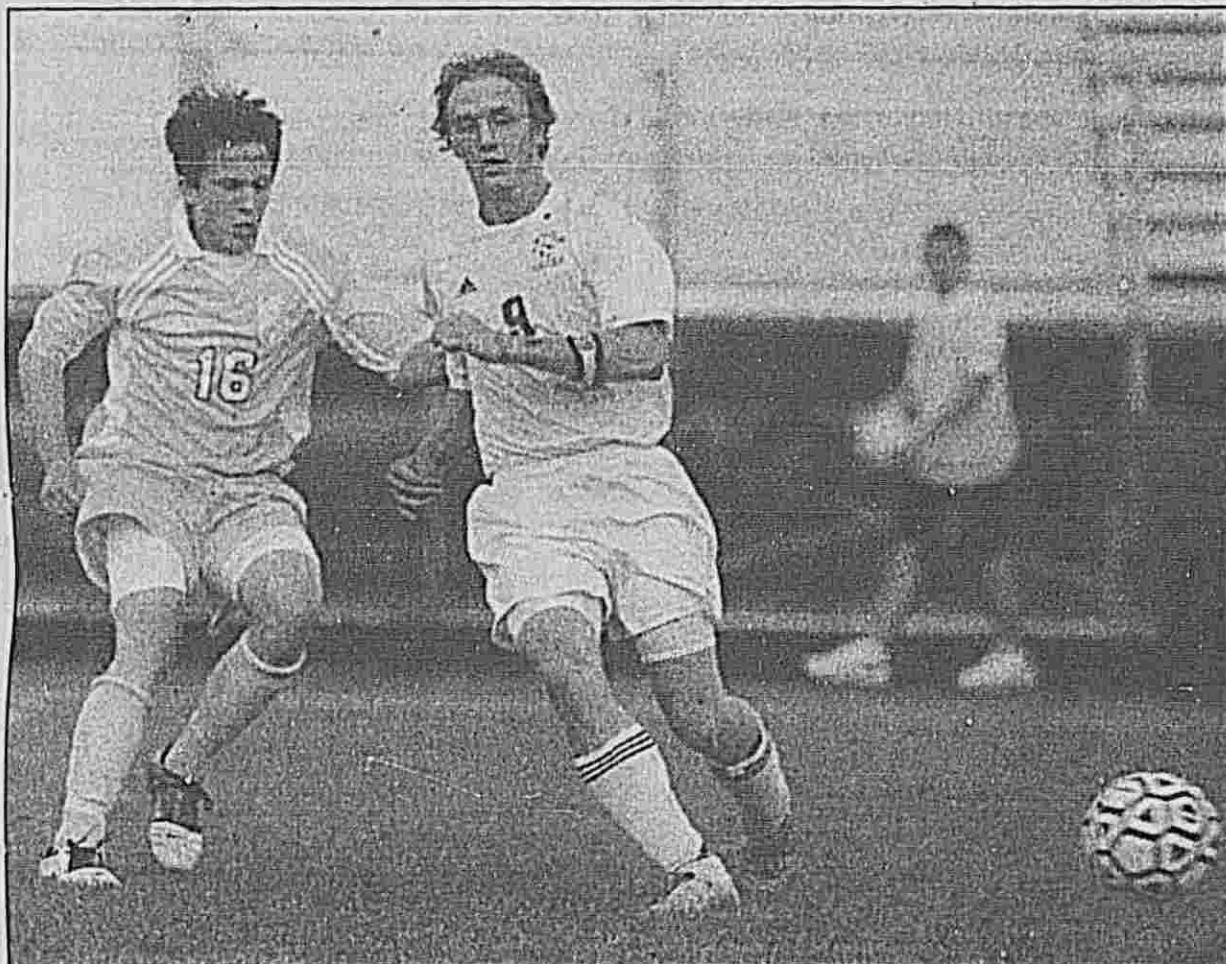

Only a few things stand in the way as Warren attempts another run downstate.

"We definitely have to stay healthy," McNamara said. "And we haven't given up a goal or trailed in a game yet, so we don't know what that's like. We need to see that happen to see how the kids will respond to adversity."

GOLF

Cats' confidence bolstered by hot start

By Rob Backus
Sports Editor

Going into the season, Libertyville girls golf coach Jim Seward knew his team had some punch at the top of the lineup with the trio of seniors Nicole Schachner and Nikki Miller and sophomore Alex Hein. What Seward didn't know was just how far that trio could carry the Cats in a sport where the top four scores determine a team's success.

If the team's play through the season's first two weeks is a signal of things to come, the rest of Lake County had better watch out. Despite lacking a consistently low fourth score from its trio of freshmen, Libertyville started off the season by winning the Lake County Invitational, then followed it up with wins in each of its first four dual meets.

"We couldn't have asked for a better start," Seward said. "We have three real solid players; One through three, I think we're as good as anyone north of (Interstate) 80. And (freshman) Mackenzie Yukus can play a little. We're hoping she and a couple of other kids can back up those top three."

Though the team has gone unscathed in the early going, the Cats have little time to rest on their laurels. Not only did they take on North Suburban Conference foe Lake Forest on Wednesday, but will also compete against some of the area's top teams at Bonnie Brook Golf Course this weekend in the Waukegan Invitational.

"That's one of the top invites in the state," Seward said. "It's a tough golf course and a great field. It will be a good measuring stick for the rest of the season."

While Schachner and Miller have continued to be their usual steady selves, it's the continued emergence of Hein that Seward credits as a major reason for the team's unbeaten start. Hein has consistently put up scores in the low 40s, a major improvement over last year, according to Seward.

"She's just a sophomore, but just as much as anyone she loves to play and be involved in competition," Seward said of Hein. "The better the opponent, the more she raises her game and she always wants to be a better player. She's taken very well to the game."

The love of competition could also be said about Schachner and Miller. So needless to say, the trio was perfectly in their element during last month's county Invite. Schachner, Miller and Hein all finished in the top five overall as the Cats shot a 380 over 18 holes.

"None of them back down from any challenge," Seward said.

The Cats will face another test as the season goes along, with the weather's inevitable turn for the worse on the horizon in October.

"That can always throw a monkey wrench in the mix, but we should be able to handle it," Seward said.

ANTIOCH 171, LAKES 187

Antioch improved to 2-1 overall and 1-0 in the NSC Prairie division with a 171-187 win over Lakes at Antioch Country Club last Thursday. Zach Coles led the Sequoits with a 41, followed by Adam Bruce's 42 and Chris Burton and Eric Schwert, who both carded 44's.

Colin Drayton shot a 42 to lead Lakes in its first-ever home match. Michael Poplawski (48), John Dudley (48) and Jon Schultz (49) had the other top scores for the

CARMEL 181, NAZARETH ACADEMY 231

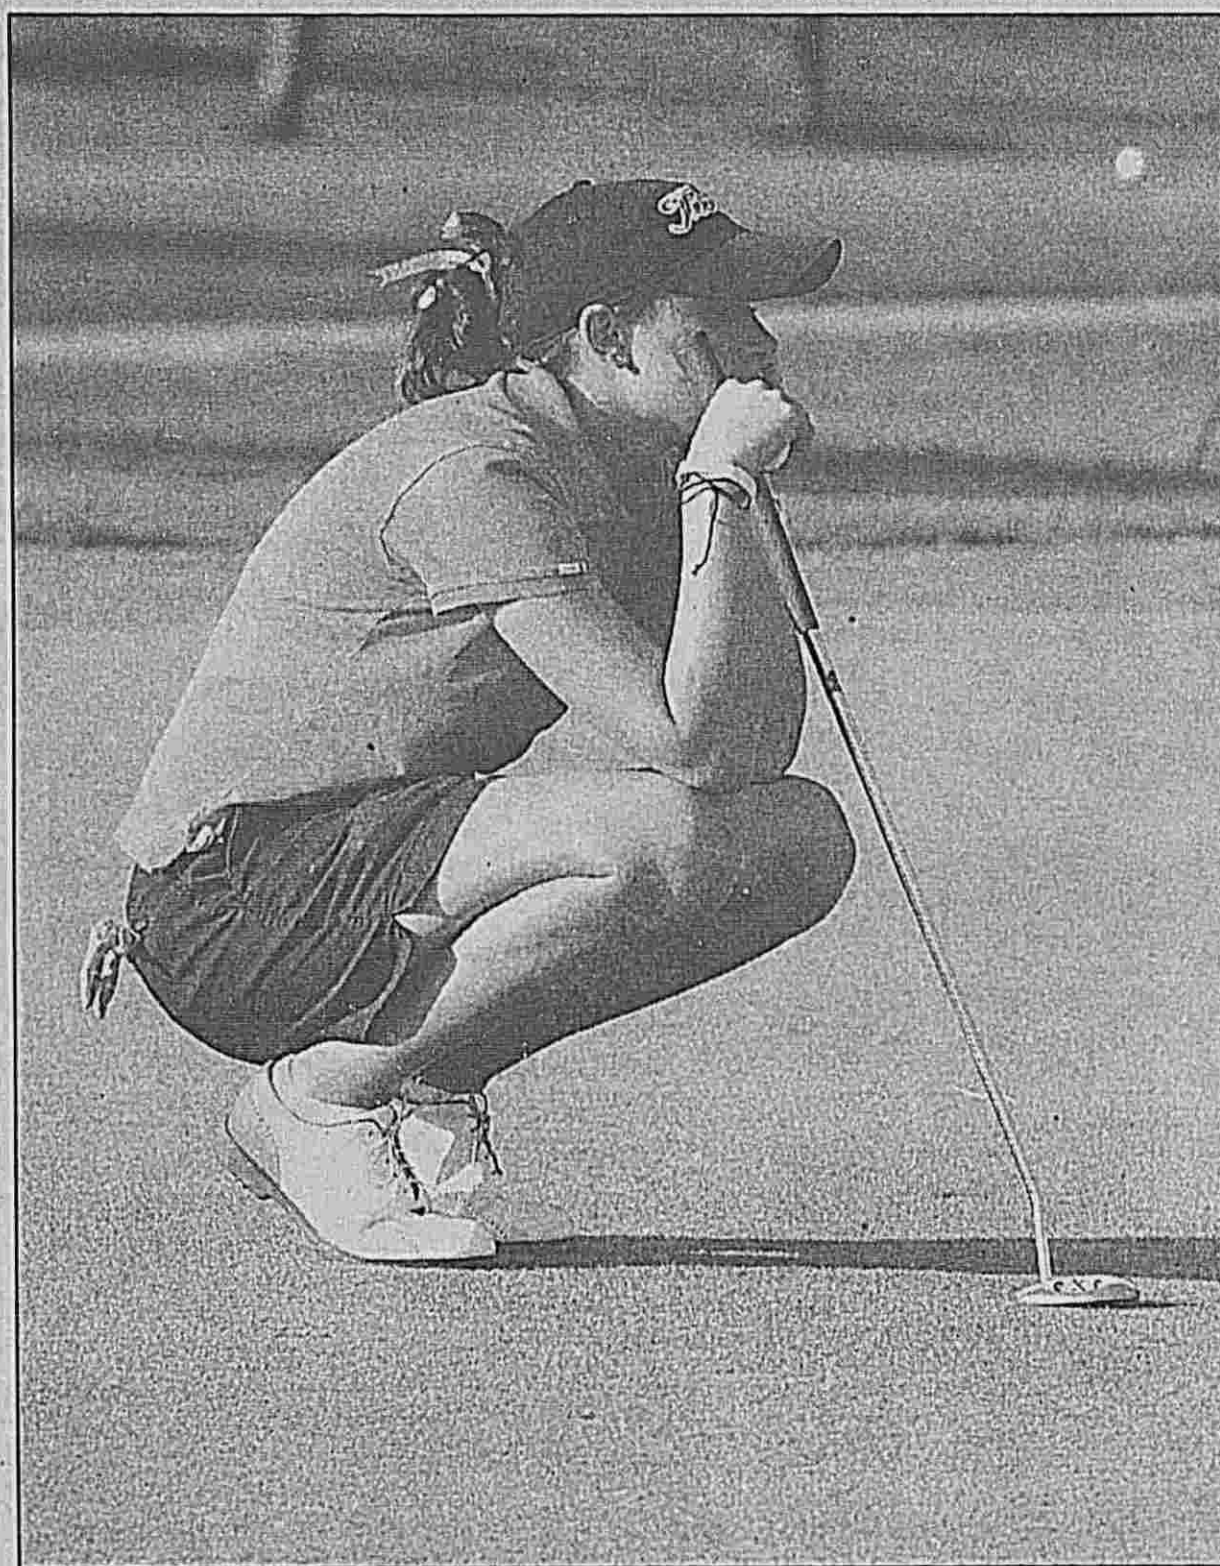

Carmel won going away last Thursday in a match against Nazareth Academy, besting its ESCC foe by 50 strokes, 181-231. Senior Kate White shot a 38 to lead Carmel, followed by Katie Kelly (46), Emily Biang (48) and Alison Lacey (49).

GRANT 172, ROUND LAKE 178

Tyler Doherty's 38 was enough to push Grant past NSC Prairie opponent Round Lake in a six-stroke win last Thursday. Donald Otway (44), Brian Swanson (44) and Aaron Kristan had Grant's other top scores. Brian Mendralla's 42 led the Panthers, followed by Joe Reasland (43), Andy Patnou (44) and Nick Anchor (49).

GLENBROOK SOUTH 154, WAUKEGAN 175

Armando Cruz shot a 43 to lead Waukegan in a 154-175 Central Suburban League loss to Glenbrook South at Bonnie Brook on Monday. Matt Laine, Stephen Booker and Joey Knop all carded 44's.

Herniated Disc?

Lindenhurst, IL -According to a recently released Herniated Disc pain relief report, most people suffering from a herniated disc have no idea how to eliminate their pain. Some use heat, others ice. Some people try surgery. From sleeping on the floor, to pillows underneath the legs, herniated disc pain relief techniques vary. But thanks to a free report, local herniated disc sufferers finally know exactly what to do.

ATTENTION PET OWNERS
We Do Not Knowingly Accept Ads For Free/Giveaway Animals
If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.
*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.
*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.
*Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

ARE YOU SPRING CLEANING?? GET RID OF THE CLUTTER AND RUN A FREE OR GIVEAWAY Ad in the Lakeland Classifieds. Free and Giveaways are run at NO CHARGE! (We discourage any pet ads). Deadlines: 10am Wednesdays. (847) 223-8161, ext.191.

To Manage or to Manage Not

By Scott T. Fleischmann

Most managers are promoted from within the ranks of individual contributors. Good accountants are promoted to accounting managers. Good sales people are promoted to sales managers. Good maintenance technicians are promoted to maintenance managers. But is that always the best move?

Every position has assets and liabilities. Being a manager is no different. Those who have the opportunity to move into management need to understand both sides of the balance sheet.

The benefits of being in management are greater responsibility, more authority, prestige and increased compensation. The drawbacks include greater responsibility, more authority and longer hours.

Responsibility and authority appear on both lists. Each is indeed a double-edged sword. Whereas a software developer may be responsible for writing and testing specific code for a software system, a software development manager may be responsible for the development of the entire system. He or she may supervise the work of several individual contributors.

For those who have the ability and desire to build a system, and the leadership qualities to motivate and mentor others, this may be an appropriate challenge. For those who neither have those skills nor are inclined toward that type of work, it can be a career-ending experience.

The work of a manager is much different work than that of an individual contributor. Accountants process transactions. Accounting managers manage people who process transactions. Managers are responsible for making sure that the work is done accurately and correctly, although they are not allowed to do the work. So, why do strong individual contributors who have no desire to manage accept a promotion to management?

The prestige and increased compensation are attractive. Non-managers often see managers who are not doing a good job (because they accepted an inappropriate promotion) and believe that they can do a better job than those managers. Too often, individual contributors do not have a complete picture of the requirements of management.

Desire to serve is the basis for every good manager. In addition to serving their bosses, managers also need to serve their subordinates. Many would-be managers do not understand this principle. If they are not comfortable serving, they will not adapt well to management.

The best advice I received when I was offered a management position was to get information from others who were good managers. I asked them to describe management and their typical day. They asked about my goals, desires, and past leadership experience. Those conversations made it obvious to all of us that I was a good candidate for management.

The second best advice that I received was to treat my first management job as an experiment. Several of the managers that I interviewed suggested that if I did well at the first management job, I should evaluate whether I liked the job and wanted to continue on that career track. If I did not have the passion for management, I should return to the role of an individual contributor. Likewise, if I did not feel that I was a good manager I should return to individual contribution.

When we take away the glamour and money, being a manager is just another job. Individual contributors who are thinking about becoming managers should weigh the pros and cons of the manager's role as well as their own strengths, personal goals and career ambitions.

Harlow is a very cute little cocker spaniel who is looking for your love. Abandoned by his family at 11 years old, he just doesn't know what to do. We keep telling him everything will be okay, but he's worried people will think he's too old to be adopted. While technically this boy is 11, he acts much younger than his age. He has lived with a cat and seems to like other dogs as long as he can be the dominant pup in town. Please come meet this cutie-pie and show him that he's still worthy of a loving home.

PUBLIC NOTICE

2005-07

AN ORDINANCE PROHIBITING PARKING ON LINDEN STREET FROM A POINT BEGINNING WITH THE INTERSECTION WITH WASHINGTON STREET AND PROCEEDING NORTH TO THE END OF THE STREET, AND PROVIDING THAT ALL VEHICLES IN VIOLATION WILL BE TOWED

WHEREAS, Linden Street is a highway within the jurisdiction of the Avon Township Highway Commissioner, and

WHEREAS, the Highway Commissioner is authorized by 605 ILCS 5/6-2.1.16 and 625 ILCS 5/11-208 to regulate parking upon streets within the jurisdiction of the Highway Commissioner, and

WHEREAS, the Highway Commissioner has determined that it is in the best interest of the health, safety and welfare of residents residing along Linden Street that parking should be prohibited upon Linden Street, from a point starting at the intersection of Linden Street and Washington Street and going north to the end of the Street.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED, by the Board of Trustees of the Town of Avon, Lake County, Illinois.

SECTION 1: It shall be unlawful to park any vehicle on either side of Linden Street, from a point starting at the intersection of Linden Street and Washington Street and going north the end of the Street. Any vehicle parked in violation of the ordinance shall be towed away at the vehicle owner's expense.

SECTION II: The Highway Commissioner shall seek written approval of the Lake County Superintendent of Highways for the parking regulation contained in this ordinance. Upon receipt of approval by the Lake County Superintendent of Highways, the Highway Commissioner shall cause appropriate signage to be placed on Linden Street, stating the restriction adopted hereby, and shall indicate the vehicle parked in violation of this ordinance shall be towed away at the vehicle owner's expense.

SECTION III: The Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to file a certified copy of this Ordinance with the Lake County Division of Transportation.

SECTION IV: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval, and publication in the manner provided by law.

SECTION V: If any provision, clause, sentence, paragraph, section, or part of this ordinance or application thereof to any person, firm, corporation, public agency or circumstance, shall, for any reason, be adjudged by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional or invalid, said judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this ordinance and the application of such provision to other persons, firms, corporation or circumstances, but shall be confined in its operation to the provision, clause, sentence, paragraph, section, or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered and to the person, firm, corporation or circumstances involved. It is hereby declared to be the legislative intent of the Corporate Authorities that this ordinance would have been adopted had such unconstitutional or invalid provision, clause, sentence, paragraph, section, or part thereof not been included.
